Gov. Tom Ridge Keynotes Banquet, Opens Farm Show

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's Governor Tom Ridge made himself at home with the farm community at the opening of the 1998 Farm Show over last weekend.

After serving as the keynote speaker for the annual banquet Friday evening, Gov. Ridge held a press conference Saturday morning and was later joined by First Lady Michele Ridge and his children Lesley and Tom for a tour of the livestock and dairy barns before officially opening the show from the large arena. Along the way, the Ridge family posed with the supreme champion hog, the governor tried his hand at sheering sheep, tried to milk a cow, chatted with youthful steer showmen, and Tom took lessons on hitching a draft horse team.

Ridge told the banquet crowd of 1,200 persons, including 200 foreign visitors that spanned tables outside the ballroom, that farming is the backbone of the Commonwealth and that 600,000 Pennsylvanians are employed by the food industry. He said the Farm Show brings us together as a state, but it also shares Pennsylvania with the rest of the world through the International Day and Trade Show that has become a part of the event.

Pennsylvania Queen Clinches Lamb Championship

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It seems fitting that Pennsylvania's Lamb and Wool Queen Heidi Svonavec should know how to raise champion sheep. Nonetheless, competition is stiff at the state Farm Show, where kids from across the state bring their best sheep to compete in the annual event held Wednesday.

Out of 187 market lamb entries, Heidi proved her expertise. The 17-year-old took the coveted championship title with a home grown crossbred.

"It's the first time I've won this," Heidi said of her six years of competing at the state event. "It's so exciting."

Also startling to the Svonavec family was that Heidi's 16-year-old brother Lucas showed the reserve market champion.

Judge Tim Hall remarked on the outstanding length, muscle, profile, and loin on the homegrown lamb. Generally market lambs are crossbreds and not purebreds. But Lucas's reserve champion was a purebred that later won the champion Hampshire title in the youth show that followed.

Winner At Farm Show Drawing Named

Through this issue and into next week we have extensive coverage of the Pennsylvania Farm Show. The traditional Farm Show weather did not move in this year and record crowds at the begining of the show matched the many visitors who registered at Lancaster Farming's booth for an original old fashioned White Mountain Ice Cream Freezer. We are pleased to announce that the winner of the drawing is: Dale M. Brillhart, Spring Grove, in York County. Congratulations to the winner and thanks to everyone who stopped and entered the drawing. Our staff enjoyed meeting you.

National Egg Market
ATLANTA, GA
JANUARY 14, 1998

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices were unchanged to higher for mediums in the Midwest and on the East Coast, and other prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady to firm. Demand covered the full range and was best where featured. Supplies were tight to instances fully adequate, mostly adequate, and graded eggs were in the tightest position. Brown egg availability in New England continued to be disrupted from the winter storm, and some producers had almost replenished graded supplies to buyers while others still lacked electricity for grading, feed milling and other production activities. Breaking stock supplies were generally adequate for the irregular but mostly fair demand, and prices were unchanged to higher. Light type fowl offerings were generally adequate for the fair demand, and the trade sentiment continued mostly steady.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET, FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was very light at several plants. Offerings were readily available and difficult to place. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights varied, but were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than truckloT asking prices were 1 cent lower at 49 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment remained mostly weak and unsettled. In the parts complex, wings were short of an active call. Inquiry for breast items continued to increase; offerings varied from in good balance to well cleared. Leg quarters were generally noted as fully sufficient for current needs.

CORRECTION - DATE SHOULD READ 1998

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, JANUARY 09, 1998. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices were unchanged for whites unchanged to lower for whole, and lower for yolks. The market tone remained cautiously steady to weak. Demand was mixed and generally fair as most buyers and sellers returned to full schedules. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection for the week ending January 3,1998in the Eastern region were 21% more than the previous week, and 9% more than the same week last year. Raw material supplies were usually at least adequate under a mixed but about steady trade sentiment. Occasional shortages of shell eggs found breakers paying higher prices.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed January 14, 1998
USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Wheat bids turned lower after yesterday's moderate gains, on ideas we could have another outstanding crop year. Corn bids moved higher again as users see tighter stocks/use ratios. However, continued lack of export sales and light profit taking on the board, limited gains. Soybean bids were sharply lower on increased farmer selling, good growing conditions reported in most of Brazil, and continued lack of export demand. Additional weakness in soybean bids stemmed from de- creased demand in soybean meal and oil. Wheat 1 to 5 cents lower. Corn 1 to 4 cents higher. Sorghum 6 to 8 cents higher. Soybeans 6 to 8 cents lower.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

LAST QUARTER MOON, JAN. 20.

DYING WORDS . . .

January 25 marks the death of Al Capone in 1947. We don't know the last words of this king of the Prohibition speakeasies, but we'll tell you some others of note. Beethoven, who had been plagued by deafness, said, "I shall hear in heaven." General Grant said, "I want nobody distressed on my account." Haydn died singing "God preserve the emperor!" Cotton Mather said, "Oh, I can bear this! I can bear it!" and Captain William Kidd said, "This is a very fickle and faithless generation." Another poor soul put his last words on his gravestone in Georgia; it reads, "I told you I was sick!"

Last words are for fools who haven't said enough.

– Karl Marx

TIP OF THE WEEK

CORN CUSTARD

2 cups corn kernels (fresh or canned)
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, beaten
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons melted butter

Mix corn with dry ingredients Add eggs, milk, and butter Place in a buttered baking dish or casserole set in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake at 350° F for 50 to 60 minutes, or until a knife inserted into the center comes out clean.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

January wet, no wine you get.

If you see grass in January, lock your grain in your granary.

A summerish January, a winterish spring.

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News

Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle and calves firm to 2.00 higher. Demand moderate to good on all classes and greatly improved from last week. Receipts well below normal as gathering and transporting cattle difficult due to soft field conditions. Weather has been light drizzle and overcast with warmer than normal temperatures for past two weeks. Quality generally average, however several attractive feeders off wheat. Weigh-ups gaunt to average.

Feeder cattle in medium to moderate wheat flesh; calves in slightly thin to medium flesh condition. Slaughter cows 1.00-1.50 higher. Slaughter bulls 2.50 higher. Demand good for light receipts. Total of 320 cows and bulls sold with 75 percent going to packers. Receipts this week 4,850; last week 6,907; last year 1,170. Supply consisted of 69 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 24 percent calves under 600 lbs; 7 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

OPINION

Let's Keep Up The Good Work

Officials of the Pennsylvania Farm Show put some acts of hard evidence into their premise about what urbanites learn when they visit the annual showcase of the state's ag industry.

At a media event to unveil the butter sculpture on Thursday before the show opened, State Ag Secretary Sam Hayes Jr., hosted a large group of school children from three districts in the Harrisburg area. Because the sculpture depicts a school cafeteria employee serving a student a balanced meal of foods from Pennsylvania and underscores PDA's commitment to food safety, Hayes was able to do some ag education at the elementary level.

Posing questions about how much and why you cook hamburgers, Hayes was able to conduct ag education in front of national and regional TV cameras. Through questions posed by Hayes to the kids for impromptu answers, the young people learned that "we cook food to keep it safe" and "farmers give us safe food, but we must keep it safe in our homes after we have it."

In an even more dramatic visual demonstration, the children had the opportunity to test the level of germs on their hands before and after washing by placing their hands in a solution.

As farmers and agribusiness people, we long for the past days when we only had to talk to ourselves and our neighbors who understood our farm problems. Commercial ag exhibitors and even livestock and dairy exhibitors have a growing aversion to spending the farm show week dealing with the non-farm public who ask so many questions that any farmer would know. But as one commercial exhibitor said, we certainly need the educational aspect of the Farm Show.

Today, so much of the education done in public is anti-agriculture or at least has a slant that lacks the knowledge of agriculture. So, our hats are off to Sec. Hayes and all the companies and persons who had a part in this most rewarding experience of educating children about agriculture. The "Good Learners Need Good Food" theme to promote the school food safety program for the Pennsylvania Department of Agricultrue was certainly well chosen.

Without consumer education that is sympathetic to agriculture, our industry cannot survive. In this effort at the Farm Show, everyone, who in any way supported or participated in this year's ag showcase, can claim a stake in the outcome of these better informed kids.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Fill Out Ag Census

The 1997 Census of Agriculture is currently being mailed to every farmer in the United States. This year's census is being conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture for the first time. All previous censuses were conducted by the United States Bureau of Census. It is important every farmer completes the census as accurate as possible. It is the only source of local county level information available about farms.

This information becomes the basis for planning by industry, government and agricultural organizations. Response to the census is required by law. The same law protects the privacy of the reports, information about individual operations is strictly confidential and census responses are immune from legal processes. Completed forms are due by February 2, 1998. A toll free number has been established to answer questions. The toll free number is 1-888-4AG-STAT.

To Sign Up For Chemsweep

Many farms have a collection of unwanted old pesticides that have deteriorated or have been suspended or canceled. Finding a safe way to dispose of these products is a very serious problem.

The Chemsweep program, operated by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, provides a safe disposal method for these materials. There is no charge to participate in the program.

To participate in the program, contact your regional office of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and request a Chemsweep registration form. This form must returned by February 28, 1998 to insure your chemicals will be included in this year's collection. The pesticides will be collected in the summer or fall of 1998.

Remember, if you keep the pesticides, you retain the liability for these products. Should they leak or spill and cause environmental contamination you would be responsible.

To Keep Pesticide License Current

We are now in the heart of the winter meeting season. This is the time of year many farmers receive their pesticide educational credits that are needed to renew their pesticide licenses. You need to receive six category and six core credits every three years.

It is best if some of these credits are earned every year rather then waiting and trying to earn them all at the last minute. If you do not earn the required credits, you will have to re-take the test in order to have a current pesticide license. Now is the time to attend winter meetings to learn the latest information on agriculture and receive your pesticide credits.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "You cannot build a reputation on what you are going to do."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE GENTLE WITNESS
January 18, 1998

Background Scripture
1 Peter 3:8-21
Devotional Reading:
1 Peter 2:18-25

A few weeks ago I was in Cappadocia, a region of northern Turkey. For tourists, this is one of the most fascinating areas in the world. The landscape there abounds in miles of underground cities, rock churches and natural exotic rock formations.

In the 1st century AD, this area was part of what was known as Asia Minor, a Roman name for the land we today call the Republic of Turkey. The underground cities were carved out of soft limestone to provide protection from invading hoards from Central Asia. Christians here used caves as places of worship. In many of them are remnants of fine Christian mosaics.

But, although the underground cities and rock churches did offer some protection from persecution, Cappadocian Christians did not escape persecution. While exploring these underground cities, I was reminded that one of the New Testament epistles, 1 Peter, was specifically written to give encouragement and hope to persecuted Christians in northern Asia.

NO THREAT

It occurred to me that it is difficult for us to fully appreciate this epistle because most of us have never been even threatened by persecution for the sake of our faith. There are some places in the world where that is not true, but in the USA being identified as a Christian carries no threat of danger.

Why is that?, I asked myself. Well, of course, we live in a different world from that of the 1st century AD. Christianity is the prevailing religion in the Western world and is tolerated for the most part throughout the rest of the world. (There are some glaring exceptions to be sure.) But is it just that the world has become more accommodating to the gospel of Jesus Christ? Or could it be because Christianity has changed and is no longer a threat to the secular values and structures of society?

Might it be that in the churches today we get along because we go along? Is Christianity not seen as a threat today because the values of the community have become pretty much the values of the churches? Does the church to which you belong ever challenge the standards and actions of your society? Has your society become so much like the kingdom of God that there is no point of conflict with the gospel your church portrays? Is the society motivated more by the Golden Rule or the law of the market place?

NO PINCH, NO SQUEEZE

I think it is an ominous danger sign when a church or a Christian fits into society without a pinch or squeeze. There are things in our self-centered, materialistic, consumerized, prejudiced, polarized, corrupt, violent, sex-obsessed (add some of your own adjectives here, if you like) society that ought to be challenged by the teachings and example of Jesus Christ.

If we challenge our society, however, 1 Peter says that there is a right way and a wrong way to go about it. The right way "...have unity of the spirit, sympathy, love of the brethren, a tender heart and a humble mind" (3:8). Unfortunately, lots of those who do attack our society today seem motivated not by "love of the brethren" and "tender" hearts and "humble" minds seem to be in short supply.

Before you get up on your soap-box pulpit, before you make a placard to carry or join a vocal, perhaps even forceful, protest, read 1 Peter 3: "Do not return evil for evil or reviling for reviling; but on the contrary, bless, for to this you have been called, that you may obtain a blessing" (3:9). You can witness for Christ in your workplace, in your neighborhood and your community without becoming like the thing you are opposing If you end up returning evil for evil and insult for insult, you are not witnessing for Christ but yourself.

A hateful witness only harms the gospel. "Always be prepared to make a defense to anyone who calls you to account for the hope that is in you, yet do it with gentleness and reverence" (3:15).

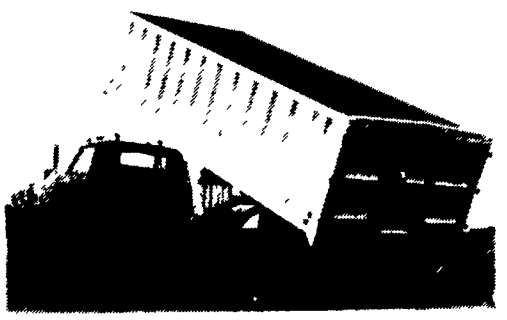
Tobacco Auction Update

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster County's tobacco auction season once again was put on hold this week, holding no auction. Buyers claim they have no orders.

However, the sales barn indicated that it will receive, grade, load, and ship only Md. 609 tobacco at 10 loads a day to "two or three processing companies that were getting tobacco before," if the growers want, according to information supplied by the auction.

No buyers at the auction will be involved. Call them at (717) 687-0990 for information.

ALUMINUM GRAIN BODIES & ALUMINUM REPAIRS by Hewey LEBANON, PA.



These ultra-light bodies are designed for strength through engineering, not strength with bulk. For example, a 16' grain body with tailgate and 48" sides weighs only 1490 lbs. complete. We'll build you any length or any side height up to 60".

Also available:
- Double swinging hay hauling tailgate
- Barn door type tailgate
- Slide out cattle chutes
- Diamond flooring
- Pull out panel tailgates
- Any size grain chute

Hoss's Sets Farm Show Record On Market Steer

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Bill Campbell, CEO of the popular Hoss's Steak and Sea House chain of family style restaurants, on Thursday set a new Pennsylvania Farm Show record by paying $27,000 for the grand champion market steer.

Campbell broke the previous record of $26,000, he set last year.

The grand champion animal, a Chianina-Angus crossbred steer exhibited by Tim Kosiorek of Wattsburg, was the first animal sold in the annual sale of three species of market animals exhibited at the state Farm Show.

In opening remarks, state Secretary of Agriculture thanked the buyers in the auction of market animals. He said that in preparing for the next century, that the youth participating in 4-H and FFA programs will continue to need strong support from the entire community, especially the business community.

He said that to indicate the willingness to take on the challenge of preparing youth for a healthy future, that it would be a great sign if the buyers could see their way to setting new Farm Show records, for highest price paid, in each of the three species.

The tradition of the auction is that buyers assume that the inflated prices they pay for the animals will result in money the youth can use to improve their lives, mainly through pursuing additional education, or improving their animal raising projects.

Further, since establishing the Farm Show Scholarship Fund in 1993, a portion of the price paid for a champion automatically goes into the scholarship fund.

This year, 13 Farm Show 4-H and FFA exhibitors, who are currently in college or advanced studies, each received $2,000 scholarships. That came directly from last year's sale, as well as from donations made through the Ambassadors Club of the Pa. Farm Show Scholarship Fund.

The Ambassadors Club started last year as a way for contributions to be made into the fund. In addition, charter members of the Ambassadors Club receive an engraved wall plaque, a gold lapel pin and tickets to a special reception.

The bidding on the steer started high and advanced quickly up to the previous record of $26,000 set last year, when Bill Campbell of Hoss's purchased the grand champion steer from Casey High of Lititz.

After getting to $26,500 and actually breaking the previous record, auctioneer Harry Bachman of Annville, paused his rhythmic bid calling to talk briefly about the significance of the event. After returning to the bidding, it went up to $27,000 and settled there.

The sale of champions event included pre-sale entertainment provided by a Pennsylvania county fair singing phenom, 11-year-old Crystal Marie of Altoona. She also sang the national anthem.

After the sale of champions and the presentation of scholarships, Campbell was presented with a

PARADISE TOBACCO SALES

Local People Helping Local People

FARMERS - DO YOU WANT TO SELL YOUR TOBACCO AT THESE LOW PRICES?

The Buyers Say They Have No Orders.

We at Paradise Tobacco Sales are very concerned about the 1997 crop - we know it's one of the best crops ever in PA. Who drove our buyers out?

Should Paradise Have Your Tobacco Pressed?

We can ship tobacco to 2 or 3 processing companies that were getting tobacco before. We think that processed tobacco will be sold soon after the processing companies have it on their storage floor. And none of the buyers here will be involved.

Call For Our Package

Paradise Sales Barn will receive, grade, load and ship your tobacco (609 only), starting very soon. We hope to load 10 loads a day until the crop is gone.

Think It Over

We believe this will be good for our future tobacco market and will get company buyers on our market at auction. We know times are tough - we are just trying to help our young farmers. So please think it over before you call.

Sincerely,

Fought's Hampshire Is Farm Show Meat Breeds Grand Champ

The state Farm Show champion Southdown ewe is owned by Jamie Fought.

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A Hampshire ewe exhibited by Jamie Fought of Carlisle was named grand champion overall of the seven meat breeds of sheep shown at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The meat breeds competition selects the top ram and ewe of each of the seven meat breeds, and then, the top ewe out of those seven breeds, and the top ram.

The grand champion overall of the meat breeds is selected from the overall champion ewe and ram.

Jacob Garges of Telford showed the overall grand champion ram, an Oxford ram that show judge Bud Martin said was an excellent example of the traditional type of the breed.

In other Hampshire recognitions, Kyle Fleener of Robesonia showed the reserve champion Hampshire ewe. Stacy Suffel, Fought's cousin, showed the champioin Hampshire ram, while Josette Fought showed the reserve champion ram and also won the breed's premier breeder and exhibitor awards.

In the rest of the Oxford show, the reserve champion ram was shown by Erin Harpster of Boalsburg. The champion ewe was shown by Mike Koehler of Schnecksville, while Jeffrey Everett of Upper Black Eddy showed the reserve champion ewe.

In the Cheviot breed, the champion ram was exhibited by Erdenheim Farm of LaFayette Hill. Erdenheim also showed the champion ewe.

The reserve champion Cheviot ram was exhibited by Ron Yochum of Townville. The reserve champion ewe was exhibited by John Eaton of Windsor.

In the Dorset breed, Mike Koehler showed the champion ram, while Lee and Louise Wagner of Easton showed the reserve champion ram. The champion Dorset ewe was shown by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herr of Narvon, while Mike and Wendy VanWanger of Dauphin exhibited the reserve champion Dorset ewe.

In the Shropshire breed, the champion ram was exhibited by Wey Shropshires of Womelsdorf, while the reserve champion ram was shown by Travis Redmond of Mohnton.

The champion Shropshire ewe was exhibited by Wey Shropshires, and the reserve champion ewe was exhibited by Jessica McMurtrie of Pleasant Gap.

In the Southdown breed, Jennifer Flinchbaugh of York showed the champion ram, while Darla Phillips of Amity showed the reserve champion ram.

The champion Southdown ewe was exhibited by Jamie Fought, while the reserve champion ewe was shown by Steve Kwisnek of Clarksburg.

In the Suffolk breed, Shane

Pennsylvania Lamb And Wool Queen Clinches Market Lamb Championship At Farm Show

Betty Lou and David Svonavec who raise about 50 head of sheep in Rockwood, Somerset County.

The Svonavecs attribute their success to "lots of hard work and maybe more luck than anything."

Excitement didn't end with the market lamb trophy. Heidi went into the showmanship competition where she placed second in the senior division.

"I was pretty nervous," Heidi said of the event.

Generally the lamb and wool queen hands out ribbons during the competition, but Heidi was so busy showing that she was unable to do so in the youth shows. However she did hand out ribbons in the open sheep shows earlier in the week.

In keeping with Farm Show rules, part of the money from the sale of the champion lambs is returned to the Farm Show scholarship foundation. The remainder will be put in savings by the siblings for their own college education.

Entries were about 20 less than last year's registration for market lamb competition, but according to Ron Miller, Farm Show director, lamb quality was better at the shows than in other years."

Youth Enter 160 Breeding Sheep In Junior Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Only a few newcomers managed to join the familiar names that dominated the championship list at the youth breeding sheep show. About 160 sheep made up the breeding sheep classes held in the small arena on Wednesday.

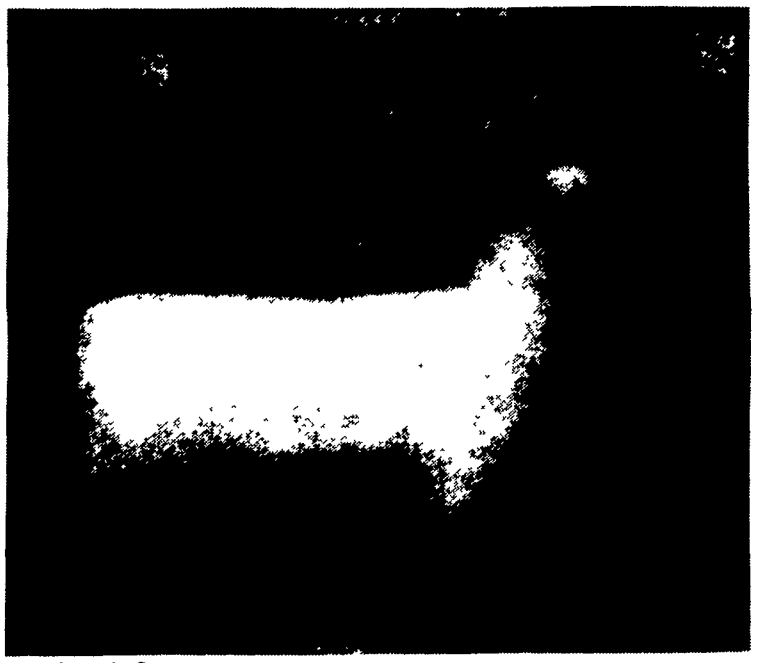
Dallassa Bowman from the Buck in Lancaster County was one of the newcomers. The 16-year-old showed a registered Columbia named Esther to take the breed championship.

Although Dallassa has three brothers and a sister who also show sheep at the local level, she was the only one of the family spying out the land in state competition this week. She's going home with a favorable report and plans to be back next year. The Bowmans raise sheep on their Country Blessing Farm.

Showing the Columbia reserve champion was Travis Crouse, 10. He and his brother Darren, 11, are the sons of Lew and Debbie of Crouse Brothers Farm in Sycamore, Greene County.

"The homebred has won every fair on the show circuit," Lew said.

In the Cheviot breed, Tony Haugh, 10, showed the champion. It was Tony's first year in breeding sheep competition. His dad Denny Haugh of Red Lion has been showing Suffolk sheep for years, but Tony finds the smaller Cheviot breed easier to handle. He purchased the Cheviot from John Eaton, and took it to Keystone International Livestock Expo and the York Fair where it was selected both times as grand champion of the junior show.



Jacob Gargas shows the champion Oxford. The 16-year-old also showed the reserve champion Oxford and the champion and reserve champion Merino.

A newcomer to Farm Show competition, Dallassa Bowman from the Buck in Lancaster County shows a registered Columbia named Esther to take the breed championship.

Michelle Snyder showed the reserve champion Cheviot, and the champion and reserve in the Suffolk breed. It was the first time Michelle had the champion in the Suffolk breed. Her sister Melanie had showed the champion Suffolk last year, but is now a full-time college student and can no longer care for her flock. Michelle previously excelled in the Cheviot breed. With her parents, Jack and Debbie Snyder, Michelle raises 120 sheep and milking Holsteins at their Snyder Valley Farm.

The Corriedale breed was wrapped up by Kelly Glaser, who again showed the champion and reserve. The champion Freckles is a homebred ewe raised by Kelly, who with her grandmother Ruth Hartman operate Limekiln Farms in Berks County.

Dorset grand champion was shown by Billy George Leib. The yearling ewe was added to his flock of Rambouillets this year. It was the first year of showing Dorsets for Billy, who is a 9-year veteran in Farm Show competition in the Rambouillet division.

Showing the reserve champion Dorset was Eric Cowden of Cowden's Polled Dorsets in Prosperity. Eric, 16, said that this was the first

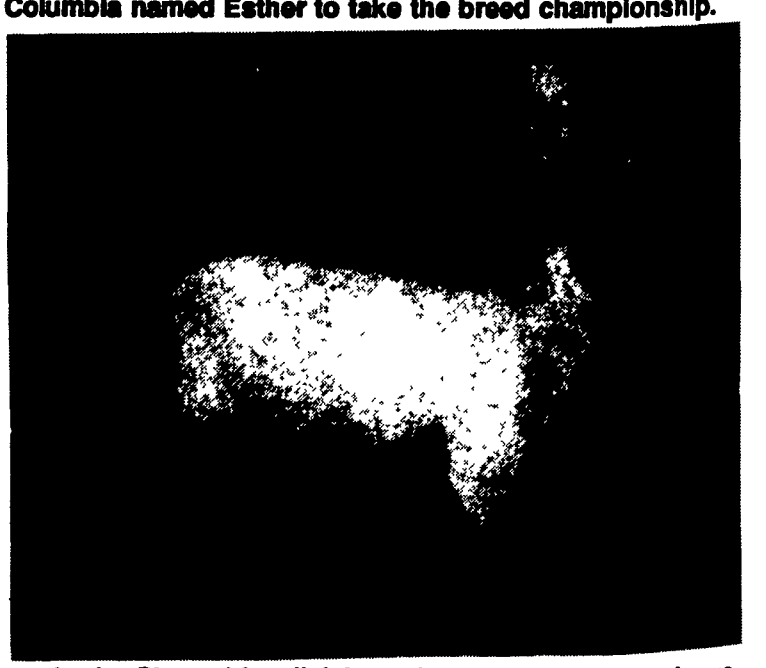
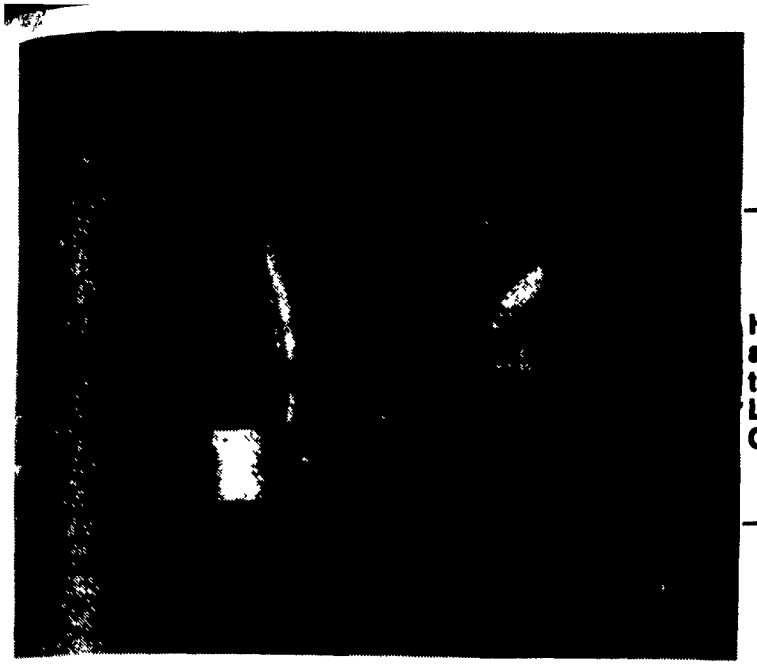
Michelle Snyder shows the grand champion Suffolk. She also showed the reserve champion in the Suffolk and in the Cheviot breeds.



In the Shropshire division, Tim Miller's homebred ewe Star shines the brightest.



From the left, Bill Campbell, CEO of Hoss's Steak and Sea House and strong supporter of the 4-H and FFA programs across the state, in addition to setting records for support at the state Farm Show, is presented with a plaque from Joann Logan, representing the Pennsylvania Association of County Agriculture Agents.

special honor from the Pennsylvania Association of County Extension Agents for his many beyond-the-call of duty efforts to support 4-H and FFA.

In addition to helping numerous youth at auctions across the state, in several situations he also provided support when disaster prevented a normal sale, and any hope for youth to receive money for their project animals.

In addition, Campbell was essential to establishing and maintaining the annual Fore FFA Golf Tournament, held in Lancaster for the past several years.

The festivities of the last morning of the Farm Show week were added to by the presence of costumed character mascots from two of the supporting businesses — Hoss's new mascot, "Hoss Man," was also on hand, as was the pig for Hatfield Quality Meats.

After Kosiorek received his record-setting price for the steer, Hatfield Quality Meats paid $5,200 for the grand champion swine shown by Keri Connelly of Pennsylvania Furnace.

Lebanon Valley National Bank and Susan and Glen Sansom of Kessler's Inc. in Lemoyne, combined to pay $2,500 for the grand champion lamb, exhibited by Heidi Svonavec of Rockwood.

The reserve champion steer, shown by Katie Hummel of Sunbury, was also purchased by Hoss's, for $2,000.

Janine Winebark, daughter of Kenneth and Janet Winebark of Myerstown, showed this year's reserve grand champion market swine, a purebred Hampshire.

Janine received special mention by Bachman because it was she who donated the total amount from the sale of her 1993 grand champion swine — $10,000 — to help start the scholarship fund.

She received $2,200 from Hoss's Steak and Sea House for the animal.

The reserve champion market lamb was shown by Luke Svonavec, brother of Heidi, and was purchased for $1,100 by Greg Kirkham with Old Guard Insurance.

The sale totals and averages were not available by presstime.

Crossbred Wins Junior Swine, Purebred Becomes Reserve

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It's not often that a purebred hog rises to the top in a junior market championship show.

But Tuesday's junior market swine show activities at the Farm Show proved differently, when the judge selected a 261-pound purebred Hampshire hog, exhibited by Janine Winebark of Myerstown, as reserve supreme champion. Supreme champion went to the 248-pound crossbred champion shown by Keri Connelly, State College.

At the show, Dr. Lauren Christian brought back his expertise as professor of animal science at Iowa State University to judge the junior market swine contest.

When he chose the crossbred champion shown by Keri Connelly, Christian noted that the hog "correct in design" stood out from the rest. When he selected Connelly's 248-pound light heavyweight class winner, a Hampshire/Duroc crossbred hog obtained by Roger Bentley of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, as supreme, Christian spoke about the movement of the industry to "muscle quality."

That same emphasis on muscle quality will provide meat from hogs with "marbling, color," he said, and a product that will "not taste like shoe leather — it will be flavorful.

"There are more important things in the pig business that how lean a pig is," Christian said.

Keri, 13, is the daughter of Ron and Denise Connelly, State College. Keri is in the 8th grade at Mt. Nittany Middle School. This is her first championship at the Farm Show, clinched with "Bentley," named after the man from whom she obtained the hog.

Keri said the hog is walked a half mile every day. It was "hard work and exercise" that garnered her a championship, he noted. She won reserve at the Centre County Grange Fair. Keri helps out on her family's 1,000-acre dairy farm and raises market swine for showing.

The reserve supreme was a Hampshire shown by Janine Winebark, 13, daughter of Ken and Janet Winebark, Myerstown. Janine showed "Jessie," selected from her family's herd, which numbers a few sows. Janine is in the 8th grade and is homeschooled.

Reserve crossbred hog went to Katie Kochera, Berks County, for her 244-pound medium weight champion, a hog which Christian said puts "really good things together in one package."

There were 356 exhibitors at the show. Following is a list of show placings.

BROWN'S

TAKING YOUR FARM TO THE 21ST CENTURY

WED. JAN 21ST
SHADY MAPLE SMORGASBORD

-- 10:00 TILL 3:00 --

THUR. JAN. 22ND.
LEESPORT FARMERS MKT.

DR. WALTER KENNETT
Director of Nutrition
F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc.

TOPIC: GETTING INTO THE NEXT CENTURY BY OPTIMUM RUMEN CARBOHYDRATE AND PROTEIN NUTRITION TO PRODUCE MILK AND MEAT

Speaker Background: Dr. Kennett is Director of Nutrition for F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc. He earned undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of New Hampshire and University of Maryland. His work experience includes F.M. Brown's, Inc., Blue Seal, and Director of Dairy Research for a national feed company centered in the mid-west. His background and experience are available to all via Brown's extensive ration balancing and nutritional consulting program. In addition, Dr. Kennett has practical experience working with his son in a partnership that milks 80 cows.

TOPIC: AMINO ACID BALANCE - MOVING RUMINANT NUTRITION INTO THE 21ST CENTURY

DR. ROBERT PATTON
Nittany Dairy Nutrition

Speaker Background: Dr. Patton's background includes undergraduate and graduate degrees from Penn State and Michigan State, and 16 years experience managing his own dairy herd in Centre Co., PA. He was State Dairy Nutrition Specialist at Michigan State, and has conducted extensive research into amino acid nutrition of dairy cows. He was a technical specialist for Monsanto Ag Co., and Product Manager for Degussa Corp. He currently is a private dairy nutrition and management consultant, and works extensively in the developing dairy industries of Mexico, South Korea, and Costa Rica. Dr. Patton was among the first scientists to recognize in the late 1960's that rumen undegradable methionine had value in common nutritional disorders in fresh dairy cows and has helped to develop the concepts, and guidelines for feeding specific amino acids to high producing cows.

DR. JACK GARRETT
Director of Animal Research
Diamond V Mills

TOPIC: STIMULATING RUMEN PERFORMANCE DURING PERIODS OF STRESS WITHOUT DRUGS LOOKING AT OLD PRODUCTS WITH A 21ST CENTURY PERSPECTIVE

Speaker Background: Dr. Garrett received his undergraduate and graduate training from Colorado State University and the University of Minnesota. His major research emphasis was in ruminal microbial markers and kinetics of protein utilization in the rumen. He spent several years teaching animal nutrition and conducting extension training for the College of International Agriculture in North Africa. As Director of Animal Research for Diamond V Mills, he is heavily involved in studying rumen fermentation in lactating and dry cows. His recent research is centered on the value of improved rumen function in pre-fresh and lactating dairy cow rations.

Other Speakers will include Dr. Carl Brown, Feed Sales Manager and Chris Teprovich, Seed Sales Manager F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc.

time in his five years of showing at Farm Show that he made it to the reserve position.

"I raised this one myself," Eric said of the fall ewe lamb. "It takes a long time to get to this point."

Later, Eric competed in showmanship, and won the intermediate division. He is the son of Bruce and Sandy Cowden.

For the ninth year in a row, the champion and reserve champion Rambouillet was shown by Billy George Leib, 17. The wooly champion Rambouillet was also the grand champion at Maryland Sheep and Wool and at the All American Junior Show in Indiana.

Billy and his parents, Bob and Susie Leib operate Shepherd's Crook Farm in Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County.

In the Hampshire breed, Kyle Fleener, showed the champion named Althea, which was also named the reserve champion in the open show.

Kyle, 13, said it was the first champion Hampshire he showed at Farm Show although he had previously had champion Southdowns.

Kyle is the son of Tim and Sara Fleener of Robesonia, where they operate Blu-Acre Farm with his grandparents.

In the Merino breed, Jacob Gargas showed the champion and reserve. The 16-year-old son of Eileen and Paul Gargas raise 20 head at their Gargas Brothers Livestock Farm in Telford Montgomery County. Gargas also won the champion and reserve titles in the Oxford division. It was the first time that he showed Oxfords, although he has been showing Merinos for nine years.

In Montadale competition, Paul Fitzmiller, 17, showed the champion and Tricia Ebling showed the reserve.

The homebred ewe champion has royalty in the bloodlines according to Fitzmiller, who said the ram was supreme champion over all at the York Fair in 1995. "She likes to eat Doritas and potato chips just like her father," Paul said.

Paul, the son of Thelma Kitzmiller, had some other good things happen to him during the Farm Show. He was selected state FFA star farmer and was first in the senior division of the Junior Shepherd's contest.

In the Southdown breed, 13-year-old Jamie Fought took the championship in her first year of showing that breed. With dad John Fought, they raise about 50 brood ewes and 25 other head at their Sulfur Run Farm in Carlisle. The Foughts also showed another ewe that took became the champion Southdown ewe and the supreme champion over all in the meat breeds open show.

Jennifer Flinchbaugh showed the reserve champion Southdown.

In the Shropshire division, Tim Miller's homebred ewe Star shown the brightest. Tim, 12, is the son of David and Mary Miller. The family operates Movin' Acres Farm in Pennsburg, Bucks County. It was the second champion, who has been showing at the Farm Show since he as five years old.

"Lots of practice," Jodie Chapman said of her skill in clinching the showmanship title at the state Farm Show. Judge Tim Hall commended her for her crisp presentation at all times, and straight, smooth movements in showing the sheep.

the 17-year-old is the daughter of Jeff and Joan Chapman of Washington County, where they have 100 head of Montadales. It was the sixth year Jodie showed sheep at the state show, but only the second year that she competed for showmanship.

A listing of show results will appear in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

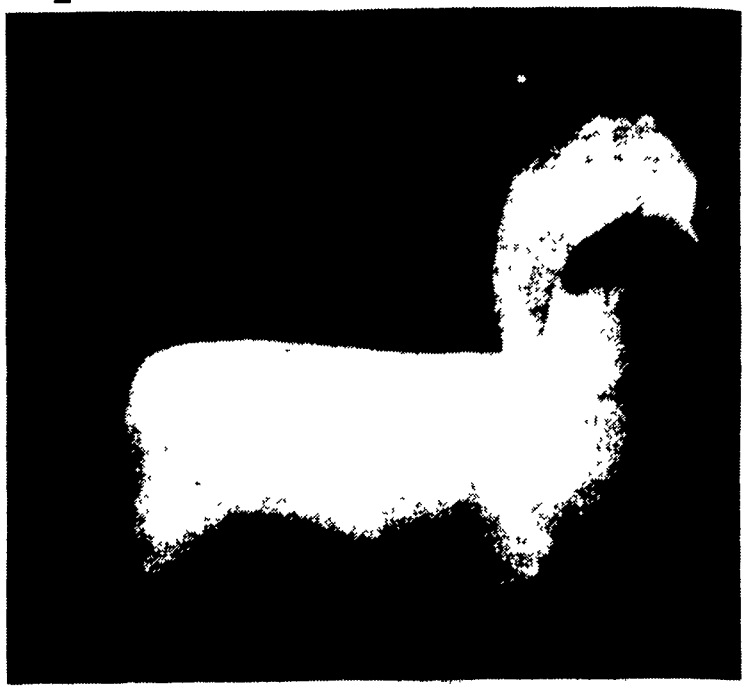
In the Southdown breed, 13-year-old Jamie Fought takes the championship in her first year of showing that breed.



In the Hampshire breed, Kyle Fleener, shows the champion, which was also named the reserve champion in the open show.

In Montadale competition, Paul Fitzmiller, 17, shows the champion. Paul had some other good things happen to him during the Farm Show. He was selected state FFA star farmer and was first in the senior division of the Junior Shepherd's Crook Contest.

Kelly Glaser of Limekiln Farm dominates as champion of the Corriedale breed.

King Cong Is Farm Show Supreme Draft Horse

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Windermere Farms from Spring Mills, exhibited the supreme champion draft horse at the 1998 Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

The Farm Show is the largest indoor agricultural exhibition in the nation. It is held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

"King Cong" is a 5-year-old Percheron stallion owned by the Abe Allebach family.

"King Cong" did not travel to horse shows in 1997, but he was the champion stallion at several large draft horse shows in 1996.

"King Cong's" sire had been the Premiere Percheron stallion in North America for nine consecutive years.

Windermere Farms is a 300-acre horse farm. The Allebachs operated a dairy farm until 1986, but now the farm is limited to horses and a team of oxen. This is the 22nd year for the Allebach family to be coming to the Farm Show.

In order for a horse to compete for the Supreme Champion honor, the horse must be named a champion within its individual breed. One of the champions is then named best horse. All of the best of breed horses compete for the supreme champion award.

Also competing for the Supreme Champion award was a Clydesdale mare shown by Aileen O'Connor from McMichaels, Monroe County.

Liberty Knolls Hannah, a 7-year-old mare, won the best of breed award for the Clydesdale breed.

This was O'Connor's first time exhibiting at the Farm Show, and she said that it has been a fun experience.

This mare was shown at the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exhibition and was named the reserve grand champion mare and the reserve senior champion Clydesdale.

Delmar Landis, Lititz, Lancaster County, is the owner of the 2-year-old Belgian stallion, "Del's Supreme Dallas," that was named best of the Belgian breed and competed for the Supreme Champion honors.

"Dallas" was named junior champion and grand champion stallion, in addition to best of the Belgian breed.

"Dallas" was reserve grand champion at the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exhibition and grand champion Belgian at last year's Farm Show.

Landis operates the 40-acre DDL Farm, which focuses on horses, but also raises other livestock species such as steers, hogs, and sheep. His horses are primarily used for showing and breeding.

This is the best Landis has ever done in his 14 years of Farm Show competition. He said that he could have never done it without "lots of help from friends."

"I declare the 1998 Pennsylvania Farm Show officially open," said Gov. Tom Ridge to the full house in the large arena Saturday morning. "Let the show begin." And it did!

According to Ridge, 1997 Pennsylvania exports have continued upward, totalling nearly a billion dollars. This is an increase of 5.5 percent. The administration and department of agriculture have held trade missions to six countries, and more are planned. By the end of this year, Ridge pledged that 17 Pennsylvania trade offices will be open overseas. That is up from four just three years ago.

As usual, the agribusiness awards were presented. R. W. Sauder Inc., of Lititz, Lancaster County, and Stoneboro Nurseries Inc., of Stoneboro, Mercer County, received the awards.

"These two companies have made significant contributions to the development and expansion of agribusiness in Pennsylvania and to their communities as well," said Samuel Hayes Jr., state ag secretary.

Stoneboro Nurseries, a diverse wholesale nursery, houses Pennsylvania's only tissue culture laboratory producing woody ornamentals and a herd of registered Angus cattle. They received the award in the small company category.

A family-held corporation, Stoneboro Nurseries is now managed by the second generation with the third generation contributing to the company's effort. Established in 1962, they grew from a two-person operation with 56 acres to 66 employees and 400 acres of land. With the majority of its stock coming from Pennsylvania growers and its products shipped to customers across the United States and Canada, they contributed greatly to the prosperity of the Commonwealth's agriculture industry.

R. W. Sauder processes and markets fresh shell eggs and hard-cooked eggs to the northeastern United States and the export market. They were recognized in the large business category for their contributions to Pennsylvania's agribusinesses.

The company, established in 1945, has been a leader in food safety initiatives. They have their own 11-step Sauder's Tested Quality check Process that prevents their eggs from contamination and helped in the development of the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program, which covers 80 percent of the eggs produced in the Commonwealth.

Sauder, which processes 600,000 eggs an hour and 36 million eggs a week, also is a large contributor to Pennsylvania's economy. The company purchases $65 million of eggs, supplies and services from state vendors, and employs more than 350 workers at its Pennsylvania locations.

R. W. Sauder has plants in Lititz, Ephrata, Mt. Joy, and Lancaster. Other plants are in Ohio and Maryland. They participate annually in the Pennsylvania Farm Show capturing many first place honors.

Also in the second year of competition, the Farm Show Wine Award went to Clover Hill Vineyards and Winery of Breinigsville, Lehigh County. Owned by John Skrip Jr., the winery had a very successful year with its raspberry wine named "Best of Show," "Best Fruit," gold-medal honors and the Governor's Cup among other honors. The 40-acre vineyard and winery operates three year-round stores in the state and is the third largest in Pennsylvania with 10 full-time and 50 part-time employees.

Other medal winners include:

— Calvaresi Winery, Bernville, Berks County, one silver;

— Blue Mountain Vineyards, New Tripoli, Lehigh County, two gold, four silver and two bronze;

— Presque Isle Wine Cellars, North East, Erie County, three bronze;

— Strasburg Cellars Ltd., Gap, Lancaster County, two bronze;

— Conneaut Cellars Winery, Conneaut Lake, Crawford County, three silver and two bronze;

— Pinnacle Ridge Winery, Kutztown, Berks County, one gold, one silver, two bronze and "Best Sparkling";

— Mount Nittany Winery, Centre Hall, Centre County, one gold, one silver, two bronze and "Best Vinfera";

— Peace Valley Winery Inc., Chalfont, Bucks County, three bronze;

— French Creek Ridge Vineyards, Elverson, Chester County, one silver and three bronze;

— Nissley Vineyards, Bainbridge, Lancaster County, three silver, four bronze and "Best American";

— The Winery at Wilcox, Wilcox, Elk County, one silver and three bronze; and — Franklin Hill Vincyards, Bangor, Northampton County, one bronze.

The Pennsylvania Farm-City Council also recognized this year's winners as part of the dinner program. Ag Secretary Samuel Hayes Jr., presented plaques to representatives of the Altoona-Blair County Chamber of Commerce and the Franklin County Farm-City Council for conducting successful programs in 1997.

"The Farm-City program works to create a better quality of life for future generations," says Hayes. "Pennsylvania's citizens need to recognize that farm-city partnerships are essential. Without our farms and farm families, city and urban families would have no food, and without buisnesses from our cities and towns, farmers would not have markets and processing facilities for their products.

"Farm-City activities present a unique opportunity to increase public awareness of the tremendous contributions made by Pennsylvania's 50,000 farm families and 2,300 food processors and the challenges involved in meeting the world's increasing needs for agricultural products."

The Altoona-Blair County Chamber of Commerce carried out a variety of activites, including a "Buy Local" campaign; an old-fashioned pig roast; school visits; "Dairy Day;" and the 27th annual Farm-City Dinner.

Franklin County's Farm-City Council sponsored more than a dozen activities, including an agricultural exposition at a local mall; farm tours and open houses; job exchange and the 28th annual Farm-City Dinner.

The Agriculture Department held a Farm-City Day celebration on Nov. 18, just prior to National Farm-City Week, which is celebrated during the seven days leading up to and including Thanksgiving Day.

Thriving Farm-City committees sponsor a variety of events throughout the year, working with farm organizations, government agencies and local businesses. They work to promote the diversity and economic importance of agriculture within their county, and a greater appreciation between the farm and business community as well as rural and urban residents.

To promote the farm-city concept, Gov. Tom Ridge issued a proclamation declaring Nov. 21-27, 1997, as Farm-City Week in Pennsylvania, and urged all residents to celebrate the interdependence between urban and rural communities. He plans to issue a similar proclamation this year.

The following individuals were introduced at the banquet.

The Pennsylvania Apple Queen - Ashlee Semelka, 18, is the daughter of Robert and Linda Semelka of North East, Erie County. Her father and grandfather own and operate the Semelka Fruit Farm. Pennsylvania currently ranks fifth nationally in apple production, yielding an annual crop of 391,000,000 lbs., valued at $50.5 million.

Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen - Twenty-one-year-old Melissa Leiden, daughter of Gerald F. and Bernadette Leiden of St. Lawrence, Cambria County is the current Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen. She attends Indiana University of Pennsylvania where she is active in field hockey, track and field and the residence life council. The gross income from beef production on 33,000 farms in the state during 1996 was $352.7 million.

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess - Nichole R. Meabon, 17, daughter of Randy and Paula Meabon of Wattsburg, Erie County, is a senior at Seneca High School. Nicole his planning for a career in broadcast communications. Prior to the opening ceremony, Secretary Hayes and Dennis Grumbine, Farm Show director, escorted the First Family on a tour of the livestock exhibits. From the podium in the large arena, Gov. Ridge complimented both Hayes and Grumbine for their work, including a reference to the service award that had been presented to Grumbine at the Farm Show banquet. The governor reiterated his commitment to expand and strengthen the Commonwealth's global markets.

As part of the ceremony, the Pennsylvania State Police Mounted Drill Team presented a series of technical drills for the farm show visitors. The drill team had not performed at the Farm Show since 1976 until they returned last year. The team came back by popular demand.

After declaring the 1998 Farm Show officially open, the First Family watched, along with a full house of spectators, as the Youth Rodeo took over the arena. As the week progressed, 3,500 head of top-quality livestock and produce was shown for a total of $247,138 in prize money. More than 325 commercial exhibitors also were on hand to show the newest farm equipment and enterprises.

Dairymen's Association Presents Honorary Awards

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

The annual meeting of the Dairymen's Association was held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Farm Show with honory presentations made to three persons who have been noteworthy of support for the dairy industry. The recipients are: Paul Hartle of Bellefonte in Centre County, who received the Charles E. Cowan Memorial Award; Beverly Robinson Minor of Eighty-Four in Washington County, who received the Distinguished Dairy Women Award, and Dr. Robert Yonkers, assistant professor in Penn State's Ag Economics and Rural Sociology department, who received the 1998 Extension Award.

Hartle, described as a "quiet, can do" man took over management and ownership of the family farm in 1967. His Mammouth Spring Holstein herd consists of 65 registered Holsteins with a current herd average of 22,000 pounds of milk. Through the last 30 years, Hartle has been a faithful supporter of many local and state Holstein sales. He has consigned many headliners to the Nittany Lion Fall Classic since its inception.

He has served on the Pennsylvania Holstein Association Executive Committee and as a director. Many committee assignments have revolved around the Holstein activities committee and the state convention. At the local level he is the county president.

He has also been active in the Centre County Farm Bureau and the former Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. He was a director of the PA Dairymen's Association and served a term on the Benner Township Water Authority.

As a 4-H dairy leader, his calm and quiet leadership will always be remembered by the many youth he has advised.

He has five children: son Richard, and daughters, Kathy, Paula, Rose, and Martha.

Minor was appointed by Gov. Tom Ridge to the PA Milk Marketing Board and recently became chairmwoman. She leads the three-member board, which deals with all issues of Pennsylvania milk marketing, from dairy farm to consumer. She is also a development leader and board member of the Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholders.

Since 1973 Minor has served on the board of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services that manages the dairy princess program in Pennsylvania. She is a former state dairy princess though at the time they were called Miss Milkmaids.

In 1975 Bev and her husband Sam started milking cows, processing milk, and opened their country store called The Spring House. From two employees, the business grew to over 50 employees today. In 1986, the Minors added on to their country store with a kitchen, buffet, and a 75-person seating area. Mrs. Minor currently manages Spring House and has created another market for their dairy farm and country store in the catering business.

The Minors have five children and eight grandchildren. Mrs. Minor is a member of the PA State Grange, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Delta Gamma Society and Grace United Methodist Church.

Dr. Yonkers has responsibility in extension for developing educational materials and delivering programs designed to increase the awareness and understanding of dairy marketing and dairy policy. He works closely with extension personnel in the Dairy and Animal Science department on projects including Dairy-Map program and the Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Future Committee.

Yonkers has a degree in dairy production from Kansas State and both a Master's degree in Dairy Science and a Phd degree in Agricultural Economics from Texas A & M. He has first-hand experience with production dairying on farms in New Jersey, Kansas, and Texas. He was a member of the dairy cattle judging team at Kansas State and coached the judging team at Texas A & M.

He is in demand both in and out of state as a speaker and has been on the program for such diverse groups as the National Milk Producers' Federation, the International Dairy Foods Association, the National Holstein Association, and the Pennsylvania Association of Agricultural Bankers. He was called as an expert witness at the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board hearings.

Bob and his wife Nancy reside in Pine Grove Mills and have two sons, Michael and Timothy.

Guest speaker for the evening was William Perry, government and member relations of Milk Marketing, Inc. Other speakers included Russ Reading from the department of agriculture; Robert Steele, dean at Penn State, and Nichole Meabon, state dairy princess. The Dairymen's Association is a group of dairy leaders who have as a goal the encouragement of dairy farming.

Dr. Robert Yonkers, left, receives the Dairymen's Association 1998 extension award from Logan Bower, president.

Carbon County Christmas Tree Wins Grand Champion

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Visitors to the 1998 Farm Show voted to award the grand champion Christmas tree to a Concolor Fire tree grown by Old Homestead Tree Farm of Kunkletown, Carbon County.

The reserve champion was a Douglas Fir grown by Richard McClellan of Middleburg, Snyder County. The public voted for the perfect one they would most like to have as a Christmas tree. The grand champion won by about 50 votes; approximately 1,070 people voted.

The judges first selected 11, out of 43 entered, Christmas trees for first place in their respective tree-type categories, and the public then voted. The judges look for seven qualities in the trees. The foliage should be fresh, clean, and uniform. It should also be tapered from 40 percent to 90 percent, and have uniform, medium density. On the bottom of the tree, the handle must be well-trimmed and five to eight inches long. The tree should also be of normal color, have a natural, not perfectly smooth outside appearance, and be free from damage or defects.

Montgomery County tree grower, Gary Hague said the judges want a tree that is easy for the buyer to bring home and put in a tree stand. "They prefer that 'the tree is user friendly'," Hague said. Hague said he grows mostly Douglas Firs on 15 acres in Hatfield.

Anyone may enter the competition, as long as the tree was grown in Pennsylvania. It was fair growing this year, Hague said, because of the summer drought.

The average Christmas tree takes eight to 12 years to mature. Pennsylvania is the fifth largest producer of Christmas trees in the nation, with over three million harvested trees. Growers produce over 10 varieties of trees in the state.

Dairy Derby Draws Large Crowds

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Lucky visitors at the 1998 Pennsylvania State Farm Show had the chance to spend 45 seconds inside a seven-foot tall cash cube grabbing for cash and savings bonds.

This is the fifth year that the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA) has sponsored this exhibit. Crowds of over 200 people gather for a chance to be chosen to participate in a game-show style contest. The four chosen contestants answer trivia questions about the dairy industry, dairy products, and dairy promotion. The winner of the question and answer session is then placed into the cash cube and is given 45 seconds to grab as much of the flying cash and savings bonds as they can. In order to officially "win" the money and bonds, the contestant must push the cash and bonds out through a small slot in the side of the booth. After the time limit is called, the money is counted.

Each contestant may keep all of the cash pushed through the slot. The savings bonds are in $50, $75, and $150 denominations, and the contestant keeps the bond with the largest value. The bonds are sponsored by donations from various dairies and milk suppliers, while the cash is supplied by MAMMA. All contestants win a four-pack of soccer tickets which are provided by the Harrisburg Heat Indoor Soccer Team.

Anita Howard, from Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County, won a $150 savings bond and $34 in cash during one of Monday's Dairy Derby games. Howard said about her experience, "It was great. The people here are very sweet and it was nice of the sponsors to invest so much into the event."

This is the first year for celebrities to act as guest hosts at the Dairy Derby booth. Jim Buchanan from Fox 43 News and Kirsten Page from Eyewitness News were guest hosts earlier in the week. Doug Allen, WGAL 8 News hosted the game from 2-3 p.m. on Wednesday.

Maple Syrup Producers To Meet

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The Northeastern Pennsylvania Maple Syrup Producers' Association annual meeting and dinner is scheduled Monday, Jan. 26, from 10:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Pleasant Valley Grange Hall.

Carl Curtis, president, will conduct the annual meeting business.

Reports from the 1998 Pennsylvania Farm Show maple products sales booths and maple syrup and maple products show will be shared with the group.

A report from the Pennsylvania Maple Producers' Council meeting will also be given.

This year's annual meeting will feature the following informative and educational topics dealing with maple syrup production.

A pancake, sausage, egg, home fries and maple syrup dinner will be served at noon by members of the Pleasant Valley Grange. The cost of the dinner is $5.50 per person and reservations for the dinner are needed.

Call your dinner reservations to the Wayne County Cooperative Extension by Friday, Jan. 23, (717) 253-5970 ext. 239.

Junior Breeding Beef, Steer Show Winners Named

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) - The annual event at the Pennsylvania Farm Show that pulls a great deal of attention is the youth market steer show held on Wednesday. This year's media star is Tim Kosiorek from Erie County who took his crossbred steer named Issac to the supreme championship. With his 1235 pound Chiangus black entry, Tim pulled off what he had never been able to do before in 11 years of showing at the Farm Show. He said this was his goal and he was pleased to reach it. Tim is 18-years-old.

The reserve supreme champion was shown by Katie Hummel, from Northumberland County. Katie's 1,265 pound steer named Reno followed the supreme champion in class and in the crossbred show. She is 16-years-old.

In the junior beef breeding show, Judge Mark McCann picked winners in each breed.

In the Angus show, Tammi Grubb, York County, had the champion and Jamie Hower, Northampton County had the reserve champion.

In the Limousin Show, Ladonna Miller, Bedford County, had the champion and Jon Harnish, Lebanon, had the reserve champion.

In the Simmental show, Courtney Wolfgang, Dauphin County, had the champion and John Messick, Dauphin County, had the reserve champion.

In the Hereford show, a brother and sister team took top honors. Kevin Rooker had the champion and Kristi Rooker had the reserve champion. They are from Fayette County.

Lee Ann Tice, Tioga County, had the only entry in the Charolais show.

Technology That Yields.

Hybrids that deliver more of what you grow corn for

PIONEER 34G81 NEW Elite — 107 CRM
High-yield potential with moderate gray leaf spot resistance A great choice for high or low yield environments Reliable stalks and superior staygreen Outstanding drought tolerance Good test weight This hybrid can move north of zone

PIONEER 33V08 NEW Bt — 111 CRM
Plant this new hybrid with the YieldGard[1] gene early or late in non-gray leaf spot conditions to best manage ECB pressure Expect good standability, and excellent staygreen Outstanding yield potential with moderate resistance to corn earworm This hybrid is widely adaptable, however, it is not adapted to late planting dates or conditions with gray leaf spot pressure In the absence of corn borer damage, performs similar to 3394

PIONEER 33Y09 NEW Bt — 113 CRM
Look to 33Y09 with the YieldGard[1] gene for exceptional resistance to ECB and intermediate resistance to corn earworm Moderate resistance to gray leaf spot, and it is well suited for no-till, continuous-corn acreage Outstanding yield potential, stalk strength and staygreen, along with good roots and superior test weight, contribute toward this hybrid's season-long dependability

PIONEER 32K61 NEW Elite — 114 CRM
An excellent agronomic package with superior drought tolerance Excellent stalks, roots and staygreen A good choice for no-till/conservation till thanks to good early growth and superior gray leaf spot resistance Excellent grain yield potential with heavy test weight and fast drydown 32K61 shows promise for high silage yields and exceptional digestibility

Reasner's Ayrshire Is Farm Show Supreme Dairy Cow

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An aged Ayrshire cow owned by Jeff and Michele Reasner of Jemi Ayrshires in Shippensburg was named supreme champion of the six dairy breeds exhibited at Tuesday at the 82nd Pennsylvania State Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Sunny Acres Misty Polly, a Very Good 89-percent classified registered Ayrshire was breed grand champion and honorable mention to supreme champion during the 1995 Farm Show, was selected champion by two of the three judges who handled the six shows.

The judges included Jeff Myers of Westminster, Maryland, who judged the Ayrsrhire and Brown Swiss breeds; Patty McMurray of Eighty-four who judged Gernsey and Jersey cattle; and Paul Knight of Airville who judged Holsteins and Milking Shorthorn.

Myers and McMurray judged the supreme animal, judging those breeds other than the ones they judged during the regular breed shows.

Polly is currently in a fifth lactation and is projected at 28,030 pounds of milk, 1,402 pounds fat, and 1,205 pounds protein. Nominated All-American, she has made more than 23,000 pounds of milk during each of her last three lactations.

She was bred by Gerald Evans of Georgetown, N.Y., and also was the 1996 reserve grand champion Ayrshire at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, the 1997 PAADS total performance winner for her breed, and 1996 grand champion of the Mide-East Spring National Ayrshire show.

Receiving honorable mention from the judges was a 3-year-old farm bred and owned Guernsey, Sinders OPP Georgie, owned by Jan Snider of Snider Homestead in New Enterprise. Fresh in October, she is projected to make more than 20,000 pounds on her second lactation.

She was a dry cow class winner at the PAADS, and reserve grand champion in November at the Northeast American International Livestock Exposition, in addition winning three county shows.

Other contenders in the ring for the final selection included the grand champion Holstein, Globe-Run Jethro Violet, owned by Robert Norris and Globe-Run Farm. Globe-Run Farm is owned by the John Forester Jr. family and John showed her to the breed win.

An Excellent 90-percent 2E classified Holstein, Violet has been fresh two months and producing 120 pounds of milk per day. A Hanoverhill Jethro daughter, the 6-year-old was reserve champion at the 1995 Pennsylvania Holstein Association central state championship show. She also won a reserve championship in 1996 as a 4-year-old.

The top Milking Shorthorn was 4-year-old Jo-El Erica, owned by Heather Crowl. Erica was grand champion at the 1997 South Mountain Fair, and grand champion of the 1997 York Fair.

The grand champion Jersey was 5-year-old CLV Grove Miss Fatima, owned by Brian and Patricia Huff, of Winbridge Farm.

(See results and photos of the individual breed shows next week.)

Good Nut Turnout For Pennsylvania Association

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Nut Growers Association is very excited about the turnout for their exhibit at the 1998 Farm Show.

According to Roy Wilson of Elliottsburg, Perry County, there was more of an interest, judging from the number of entries being exhibited this year. The most popular nut is the English walnut. That is because the shell is easier to crack than the other walnuts.

Not only are a wide variety of nuts on display, but the members of the PA Nut Growers Association are also talking with people as they go by and telling them about their Association. Talking with the crowd and answering questions has helped them get more members.

George Wells, Harrisburg, Dauphin County, became a member about 40 years ago after visiting the Farm Show. He is now growing over 100 different varieties of nut trees and grafting them.

Wilson also got involved in the Association after visiting the Farm Show and talking with Wells 12 years ago. According to Wilson, he enjoys growing the nut trees because they bear nuts, as well as provide shade and help in cleaning the air.

The Nut Growers Association is about 200 members strong. Their largest goal is to share information with other members as well as the public on how to grow good quality nuts.

To start growing your own nut trees, Wilson suggested, "buy grafted trees, not seedlings if you want to start growing you own nut trees." Seedlings are not going to give you the best quality nut. Buying a grafted tree will provide a better chance that the trees will bear good nuts and, consistently, the nuts will have a good taste and they will crack easier.

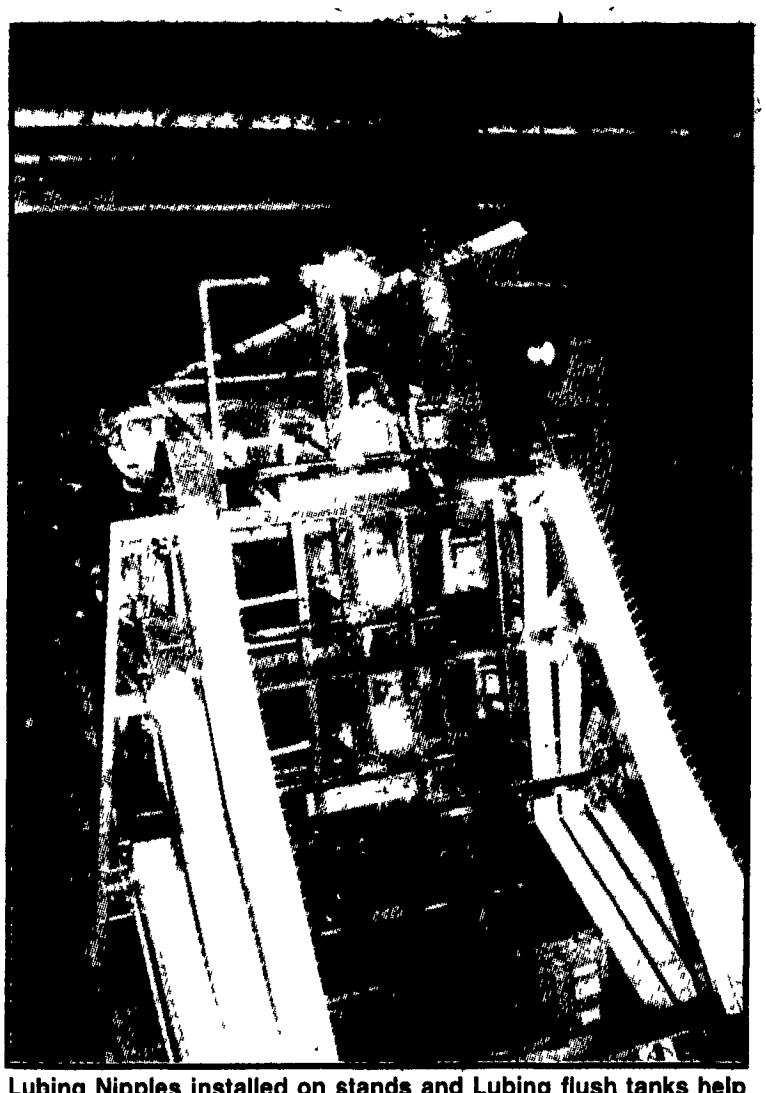
52' x 508' High Rise Building by King Construction Co.
Added to existing complex.



Lubing Nipples installed on stands and Lubing flush tanks help remove air before it gets in the nipple pipes. Northeast Agri Systems temperature compensated inlets, nipple installed with control rod on wall below inlets. Since the control rod is "inside" the building where temperature is constant it does not expand and contract. This reduces adjustment.

Chore-Time new producer cage - only 76" wide to save on building cost. Can also be used to replace older 3-high systems and 4-high reverse cages.

Chore-Time's new and improved ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeder uses our exclusive round-wire auger. It is nearly 10% heavier than our original ULTRAFLO®. And that means strength and years more running time for you! We're so confident of it that we've warranted the auger for twice* as long as the old model.

Best Of The Best Chocolate Cakes In State

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — With 62 entries from across the state in the Greatest Cocoa Cake Contest, what are the chances of two best friends ending up in the top three placings?

Shrieks, tears, hugs and gasps broke out when Belinda Myers of Dallastown was proclaimed first-place winner after her friend Judy Ulrich of York placed third. The two have entered competitions together before, but to qualify for the state contest, each needed to place first in a local fair. Judy placed first at the York Fair and Belinda at the South Mountain Fair before meeting again for the bake-off. Second-place winner was Julie Raup of Montour County.

Belinda's prize is a weekend trip for four to the Hershey Resort and Conference Center in Hershey.

An expectant crowd gathered in front of the 62 chocolate cakes that were being judged last Saturday during the Greatest Cake and Cookie Contest held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. While the top three cakes are held for display during the Farm Show, the remainder are sliced and distributed to the waiting crowd.

All of the cakes and cookies have been selected as previous blue ribbon winner at a local fair. So when tasting begins, this is no ordinary run-of-the mill cake. Each is a culinary and visual delight. One square layered cake was wrapped in gold ribbon like a present. Another was heart-shaped, and another shaped as a basket and topped with fresh flowers. Cakes with basket weaves, some with chocolate flowers or butterfly shapes, some with cherries, nuts, caramel, butterscotch, some drizzled with chocolate and others piled high with frosting showed that there is more than one way to bake a prize-winning cake.

First-place winner Belinda Myers had decorated her cake with intricate lattice-work trianges. But she is confident her win came from the taste and not just appearance.

"It's the black raspberry filling and liquer," she said. "Judges like that taste," she said confidently.

For the local contest, Belinda cooked the black raspberry jam herself to prepare the cake filling spread on three layers. But, when state competition came, Belinda discovered she had used all her homemade raspberry jam. Fortunately her grandmother had some frozen raspberries for her to make a new batch.

She and her husband Andy have two children who raise show beef cattle. The expert cook won the apple pie contest at the 1989 Farm Show.

It was the first ribbon for Julie Raup who entered the state competition for the second time. The dark cocoa cake with light colored frosting was decorated in a basket weave and topped with nuts.

"The secret is moistness," Judy said of the third-prize Bavarian Torte made with black coffee, oil, and milk to keep it moist. "And the icing is light and fluffy made with heavy whipping cream and cream cheese."

Although Judy and Belinda often vie for the same prize, they said the competition doesn't hurt their friendship.

"We're just like one big family and help each other out," Belinda said.

Out of 62 entries in Hershey's Greatest Cocoa Cake Contest best friends Belinda Myers, right, and Judy Ulrich, left, took first and third places respectively. Julie Raup, center, placed second.

Here are the top three recipes in the contest sponsored by Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs and Hershey Foods.

Belinda Myers'
Chocolate Chambora Cake
First Prize

Cake:
- ⅔ cup Hershey's cocoa
- 3 tablespoons oil
- ¾ cup butter, softened
- 3½ cups cake flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2¼ cups ice water
- 1 cup black raspberry jam with seeds
- ⅔ cup Chambora liquer
- 1½ cups sugar
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 2¼ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 tablespoons vanilla

Icing:
- ¾ cup butter
- 1 cup cocoa
- ⅓ to ½ cup milk
- 2 tablespoons Chambora liquer
- 5½ cups confectioners' sugar

For cake: Blend oil and cocoa to make a paste. Cream butter, sugar, and brown sugar. Add eggs, vanilla, and cocoa paste. Cream until light and fluffy. Gradually add flour, salt, and baking soda alternately with ice water until blended well. Grease two 8-inch round cake pans lined with waxed paper. Divide cake mix evenly between the two pans. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 40 to 50 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool.

Place one layer on dollied covered board. Split layer in half. Brush ⅓ cup Chambora Liquer on cake. Spread ⅓ cup raspberry filling. Place other half on top. Repeat.

Dairy Farm Wife Bakes Best Apple Pie In State

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For seven years Judy Kneebone's goal has been to bake the best apple pie in the state and take home the $100 prize from the annual contest held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

This year perseverance paid off. Judy's pie was proclaimed the best of the best from 54 entries that first needed to take first place at a local fair before being eligible for state competition.

"I'm always in the kitchen," said this dairy farm wife, who loves to bake and can for her husband Bob and children Shawn and Shelly. The Kneebones live in Banger, Northampton County. Judy's pie took top honors at the Blue Valley Farm Show, which qualified her to enter state competition.

The waiting for Judy and the other contestants was nervewracking. Competition begins at 10 a.m., but judging continued for more than three hours.

"The competition is so stiff because there are so many great pies here," Judy said.

That fact is confirmed by the vast array of pies, many with artistic and elaborate crusts. some had dough cutouts that were painted or intricately cut. There were apple pies baked with strawberries, pecans, caramel, lemon, lime, and raspberries.

Last year Judy came close to winning by placing second. Unlike many other regular contestants who enter the same pie recipe each year, Judy always made up a new recipe. This year's basic apple pie was topped with a caramel topping sprinkled with pecans. An apple sliced in half was plopped in the center for eye appeal.

Judy prefers using MacIntosh apples because "they are sweet, soft, and easy to test for doneness," she said. "I don't like lots of spices—just cinnamon," she said.

She credits her mother and 4-H involvement with helping her develop cooking skills. In other competition, Judy placed first in her division in the Fashion Show. She also won several ribbons for baked goods that she had entered.

"My husband said that we might as well make it worthwhile if we are coming anyway," Judy said. Her parents take care of the dairy while the Kneebone family participates in the many activities the Farm Show offers.

It was a tough call for judges Roxanne Price, Patricia Powley, Wilma Jane Ferster, and Brad Flick. In fact, when the scores were tallied, second and third-place winners were tied and judges needed to recast their votes.

Taking second place was Sherry Cashdollar of Mars, Butler County. Her Nutty Caramel Apple Pie won first place at the Butler Fair and Agricultural Association earlier this year.

It was the third year Sherry had entered.

Her secret for baking a prize-winning apple pie she revealed is in using four or five varieties of apples—at least three should be used she said.

"Apples should be as fresh as possible, although at this time of the year that is difficult," she said.

After several experiments, Sherry braided the edges of the crust with two strands of dough to hold in the pecan and caramel topping that she placed on top of the pie.

The family needed to drive five hours from their home to the Farm Show the day before. On the way, her daughter accidently threw a pillow on top of the pie. After a few minutes of panic, a relieved mother found the pie showed no signs of being hit by a pillow. Sherry also baked a cake to bring for competition.

Her five-year-old daughter also loves to bake and won a best of show in bread baking competition at the local fair.

Third place and $40 went to Michelle Davis of Lancaster County who qualified at her hometown New Holland Farmers Fair.

It was the second time, Michelle entered. Last year, she placed in the top twenty finalist selection.

Michelle said that she began baking when five years old. For competition, she perfected her grandmother's crust recipe by adding creative touches. She dipped sliced apples in a candied sugar mixture to garnish the top of the pie crust.

"It took five tries before it worked because the mixture kept hardening," Michelle said.

Her unusual pie filling included cranberries, white raisins, and orange juice.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show Tenth Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs, The Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Here are the top three recipes:

Judy' Kneebone's Apple Pie
First Prize

Crust:
- 2 cups flour
- 1 heaping teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup shortening
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 5-6 tablespoons ice water
- Sprinkle of cinnamon and sugar

After seven years of entering the annual Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, perseverance paid off for dairy farm wife Judy Kneebone, whose pie was proclaimed best in the state. Second place went to Sherry Cashdollar, center, and third to Michelle Davis, left. Behind her is Jacquelyn Everitt of the Department of Agriculture. Russ Redding, right, handed out the ribbons for the Department of Agriculture.

layering cake and filling until you end with cake on top. (You should have three layers of Chambora filling).

Icing: Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl. Add milk for spreading consistency. Frost entire outside of cake. Edge with borders. Decorate as desired or with chocolate lattice triangles. Serves 12 to 15.

Julie Raup's
Cocoa Nut Layer Cake

½ cup unsweetened Hershey's cocoa
½ cup boiling water
1¾ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter, softened
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1⅓ cups buttermilk
½ cup finely chopped pecans
1 cup heavy cream

In a small bowl, mix cocoa with boiling water. Cool completely. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line three 8-inch layer cake pans with waxed paper. Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt. Set aside. Combine butter, sugar, eggs, and vanilla in mixing bowl. Beat at high speed until fluffy. At low speed, blend in flour mixture (in fourths), alternating with buttermilk, beat until smooth. Measure 1⅓ cups batter into small bowl; stir in ½ cup chopped pecans. Pour into prepared pan. Add cocoa mixture to remaining batter, mix until smooth. Divide chocolate batter evenly between other pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Cool 10 minutes on rack, remove from pans. Cool completely. Whip heavy cream until stiff, refrigerate.

Frosting:

¼ cup butter
¼ cup Hershey's cocoa
1 pound confectioners's sugar
⅛ teaspoon meringue powder
½ cup shortening
¼ cup milk
½ tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter and mix with cocoa. Let cool. When cocoa mixture reaches room temperature, beat all ingredients on high until fluffy (approximately 5 minutes).

To assemble cake: Place one chocolate layer on cake plate. Spread with half of whipped cream. Place the nut layer on next. Spread with remaining whipped cream. Top with remaining chocolate layer. Spread frosting on top and sides of cake. Garnish top of cake with coarsely chopped pecans. Refrigerate.

Judy Ulrich's
Chocolate Bavarian Torte
Third Prize

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
¾ cup cocoa
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup black coffee
1 cup milk
½ cup oil
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix dry ingredients together. Add eggs and other liquids. Beat 2 minutes. Pour into two greased, waxed paper-lined bottoms. 9-inch pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Frosting:

8-ounces cream cheese, softened
⅔ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups heavy whipping cream
½ cup confectioners' sugar

Beat cream cheese, sugars, vanilla, and salt until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream. Cut layers in half, filling frosting between each layer and both halves.

Garnish:

Stabilized whipped cream
Miniature Hershey chocolate bars
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
4 teaspoons cold water
1 cup heavy whipping cream
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine gelatin and cold water in small saucepan. Let stand until thick. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until gelatin dissolves (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat and cool slightly. Whip cream, sugar, and vanilla until slightly thickened. While heating slowly, gradually add gelatin to whipped cream mixture. Whip at high speed until stiff.

Some things never change. By now you've almost certainly received in the mail your annual greetings from the IRS. But other things do change. Among them are the rules that relate to the traditional individual retirement account (IRA) and the new Roth IRA. This can make it confusing to decide if you want to leave your retirement funds in your current IRA or to convert them to a Roth IRA.

As is so often the case, the answer to whether to convert or not to convert is "it depends".

The important variables include your assumptions as to whether your marginal tax bracket at retirement will be lower, the same, or higher than your present marginal tax bracket. And who knows what the tax brackets will be at the time you retire? Other considerations are the length of time until withdrawal and what funds you will use to pay the taxes on the amount withdrawn.

The Roth IRA came into existence as a result of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997. Your contributions to a Roth IRA are not deductible, but the earnings grow tax free, and, furthermore, are not taxed at the time of withdrawal after age 59 1/2 providing the account is held for five years. This differs from the traditional IRA for which contributions are deductible if the taxpayer is not an active participant in an employer-sponsored plan and who meet the adjusted gross income (AGI) limits ($30,000 to $40,000 for single filers and $50,000 to $65,000 for joint filers.)

Unlike the traditional IRA, contributions can be made at any age to the Roth IRA. But like the traditional IRA, eligibility is limited to individuals with AGI under $95,000 and to married couples with AGI, under $150,000 and is phased out for incomes above these limits.

The maximum contribution to either type of IRA is $2,000 or 100% of earned income, whichever is less.

So what should you do?

Because earnings on the Roth IRA are non-taxable, it will almost always be the better choice for younger persons opening an IRA for the first time. If you're very close to retirement, because of the tax costs, it is probably not worth converting a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA. For those in between, you will need to do some figuring.

The Roth is also the best choice if your marginal tax bracket will be the same or higher at the time of withdrawal. If you anticipate that you will be in a lower tax bracket after retirement, you are better off not converting to a Roth.

If you would have to use funds from your current IRA or borrow money to pay the taxes due upon conversion of the IRA, you should leave it alone.

An additional concern is whether your ROTH IRA is protected against claims of creditors or in bankruptcy. Although ordinary IRAs are protected, Roth IRAs are not protected in all states at this time, although this will likely change.

No matter which type you chose or how much you invest each year, the benefits are greater the earlier you start. To reach a stated goal by retirement at an investment return of 10% annually, the amount of savings required on a monthly basis triples for each 10 years you wait. For example, to have one million dollars at age 55, you need to save $263.39 per month starting at age 20. If you wait until age 30, you must save $753.67 per month. But if you wait until age 40, the monthly savings required is $2,412.72. No matter what your goal or planned retirement age, starting early is a critical factor.

If you're feeling a bit bewildered by all the choices and considerations, you are not alone. Before opening or converting an existing IRA you should become familiar with all the eligibility requirements, contribution limits, tax treatment of contributions, earnings, and withdrawals.

Filling:
8 cups sliced MacIntosh apples
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons tapioca
2½ tablespoons melted butter
Sprinkle of salt and cinnamon

Topping:
1 cup flour, scant
½ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup heaping butter

Bake at 425 degrees for approximately 45 minutes. Reduce heat to 300-350 degrees and bake approximately 30 minutes or until apples test done.

Cover with caramel sauce and pecans.

Sherry Cashdollar's
Nutty Caramel Apple Pie
Second Prize
Sherry Cashdollar

6 cups thinly sliced baking apples, using at least 3 different kinds of baking apple varieties for best flavor. Prefers MacIntosh, Cortland, Golden Delicious and Jonagold.
2 tablespoons lime juice
½ cup sugar
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
Pastry for double-crust 9-inch pie
1-2 tablespoons butter

In a large bowl, toss apples with lime juice. Add remaining ingredients and toss with apples. Place bottom pastry in 9-inch pie pan and fill with apple mixture. Dot with butter, cover with top crust, flute edges high or attach fancy crust edge. Cut vents.

Bake at 400 degrees for 40-50 minutes or until golden brown and apples are tender. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, melt ¼ cup butter.

Stir in ½ cup packed brown sugar and 2 tablespoons heavy cream. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in ½ cup chopped pecans. Pour over top crust. Return to oven for 1-2 minutes or until bubbly. Serve warm.

Pastry: use your favorite recipe or the following:
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
4-5 tablespoons cold water

Combine flour and salt in medium bowl. Cut in shortening until crumbly. Add cold water, one spoonful at a time, tossing after each addition until dough holds together.

Michelle Davis'
Apple Pie
Third Prize

Crust for 2 pies:
¾ cup butter
1 cup shortening
3 cups flour
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt

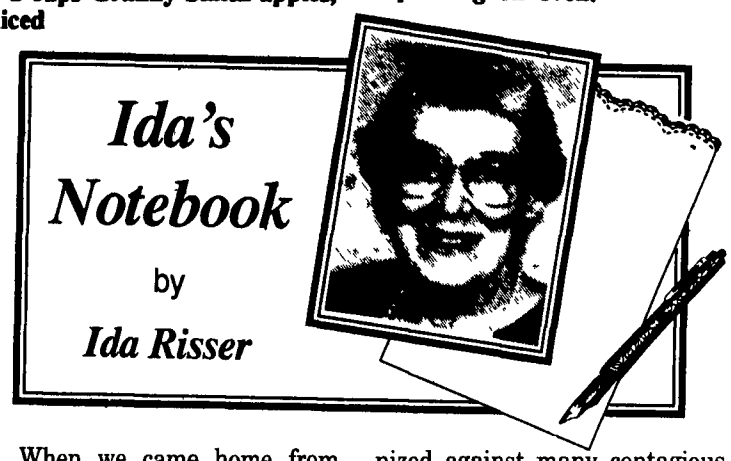
Cut shortening into flour, add liquids and roll out.

Apple Mixture:
2 cups Granny Smith apples, sliced
2 cups MacIntosh apples, sliced
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup sugar
½ cup dried cranberries
½ cup white raisins
Orange juice for soaking

Soak cranberries and raisins in orange juice. When plump, add the remaining ingredients and set aside.

Nut layer:
¼ cup walnuts, chopped
1 tablespoon beaten egg
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon sugar

Put bottom dough in, spread nut mixture on bottom, fill with apple mixture. Place on top crust. Crimp edges and bake at 400 degrees for 45-60 minutes, depending on oven.



When we came home from church the other Sunday, we got a phone call telling us that we have a new grandchild. Christopher Allen was born in a hospital in Texas.

Now the pictures are arriving that show a baby ten minutes old, then one and one-half hours and then three hours old. Last year I had more than 100 pictures of his older brother to put in an album. Our daughter went home the day after the birth.

Thirty years ago, we stayed in the hospital for a week. And, when my mother had her seven girls, she stayed in bed for two weeks and then was quite weak when she finally did get up. She always said, "This is my vacation." It is good that her mother lived with us and could help to do the work.

Today's children are immunized against many contagious diseases. When I went to school, if one child in the family got measles or scarlet fever, then the family was quarantined and we all had to stay home. Due to this rule, I missed six weeks of my eighth grade and failed Latin. But through taking summer tutoring I was able to catch up with my classmates.

Health is surely important to a well-rounded life. When I looked over my Christmas cards again, before putting them away, I was struck by the main wishes for good health. I have heard it said that if you can get out of bed in the morning and dress yourself, it is a good day. I've promised myself to do more walking this winter as I miss summer's exercise in our gardens.

Souped Up Recipes To Warm You

Soups and stews can be as filling as one-dish meals or as light as an appetizer. Either way, soups and stews continue to gain in popularity both in eating and in making them.

A wonderful asset on your pantry shelves is the "Cream of Anything Soup," by Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County Extension family living agent. This quick mix can be stored and used when time is at a premium. It can be eaten as a soup or used in casseroles requesting canned creamed soups. The homemade version is more economical and healthier.

These soups and stews make great family meals, or a weekend supper for guests. Serve with crusty bread and fresh fruit for a complete meal.

CREAM OF CARROT AND POTATO SOUP

Salted water
4 medium potatoes, sliced
3 large carrots, sliced
1 medium onion, diced
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper to taste
6 tablespoons whipping cream

Place potatoes, carrots, and onions in a pan, cover with salted water. Cook until tender. Drain, saving stock, put through sieve, food mill or food processor to puree.

Melt butter, add flour and cook for one minute, stirring constantly. Gradually add milk, puree vegetables and cooking stock. Taste and season then reheat beating with a whisk or rotary beater. Serve hot with spoonful of whipping cream. Serves 6.

ITALIAN SUPPER SOUP

1 pound Italian sausage, hot or sweet cut into cubes
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper

Saute these together in heavy skillet until sausage is cooked.

To this mixture, add:
1 tablespoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 large can whole tomatoes, crushed a little
1½ cups water
1½ cups vegetable/tomato juice
¼ teaspoon thyme

Simmer 30 minutes. Add:

1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni and simmer 15 minutes more. If more liquid is needed, add the vegetable juice. This soup is rich and hearty and great served with rolls for a meal.

CREAM OF ANYTHING SOUP
Quick Mix

This recipe makes enough mix to prepare about 12 cups of cream soup. You can vary the flavor of granular bouillon used and change the herb seasoning used. Suggested herb blends might be salad herb blends, or thyme, marjoram, parsley, or rosemary. Experiment with single herb flavors or combinations. Be sure to label each batch.

You can use single cooked vegetables or combinations. Blend until smooth, partially chopped or leave them chunky. Suggested vegetables: broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, asparagus, watercress, peas, celery, and mushrooms. Meat or tuna may be added before blending.

As prepared, this is a low-fat recipe. To make it richer, add several slices cheese to the batch after it is thickened. This not only adds extra calcium but also calories and salt.

Mix:
2 cups non-fat dry milk powder
¾ cup corn starch or regular clear-jel
3 tablespoons instant granular chicken bouillon
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1¼ teaspoons dry herbs (blend or combination)
¼ teaspoon ground pepper

Combine all ingredients in a dry one-quart container. Stir or shake to mix. Keep covered tightly and store at room temperature. (4 tablespoons of mix will thicken and flavor 1 cup water).

To Make Soup:
3 cups water
⅓ cup mix
1 to 2 cups cooked vegetables
2 to 3 slices cheese (optional)

Blend together water and mix. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Add cooked vegetables. Pour into blender container. Blend to texture desired. You may want to blend this in two batches.

Return to saucepan, add cheese if desired, and heat to serving temperature. Add meat or fish cubes if desired.

Note: This same mixture may be used to make a sauce for vegetables. Combine: 1¼ cups water, ⅓ cup mix, 2 tablespoons butter. Bring to a boil, stirring often. Add cheese if desired.

For a deliciously satisfying meal, try Veal Succotash-Style Stew. Tender veal and vegetables combine to make an effortless one-dish meal that's sure to please.

BEEF STEW

¼ pound sliced bacon, cut in 1-inch pieces
1½ pounds beef broth
½ cup water
2 cloves garlic, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 bay leaf
6 medium carrots, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 medium onions, diced
6 medium potatoes, cubed
1 rib celery, cut in ½-inch pieces
1 can diced tomatoes

In heavy skillet, fry bacon pieces until crisp. Remove, drain on paper towel. Fry beef cubes in bacon drippings until brown. Drain fat. Add broth, water, and chopped garlic, salt, thyme, rosemary, pepper, and bay leaf. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer one hour. Add vegetables and cook until vegetables are soft, 25 to 40 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Serve hot with chunks of French bread.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

1 pound asparagus
4 cups milk, scalded
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Wash asparagus, cut off tips 1½-inches from the top. Place tips in saucepan, cover with water and cook until tender. Remove from water and set aside. Cut up remaining parts of asparagus and put in same water and cook until tender. Drain. Put through a sieve or food processor and add to milk.

Melt butter, add flour, stirring constantly cook over low heat for 1 to 2 minutes. Gradually add milk, salt, and pepper, and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook 3 minutes. Add asparagus tips and serve hot with croutons or crackers. Serves 6.

OLIVE-BEAN CHILI

3 tablespoons molasses
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
1½ teaspoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons olive oil
2 medium carrots, cut diagonally into ¼-inch slices
1 large onion, chopped
1 tablespoons chili powder
3 large tomatoes, chopped
15-ounce can pinto beans, drained
15-ounce can kidney beans, drained
¾ cup ripe olives, sliced
About ½ cup plain nonfat yogurt
Crushed red pepper flakes

Combine molasses, mustard, and soy sauce; set aside. Heat oil; add carrots, onion, chili powder, and ¼ cup water. Cook, covered, until carrots are almost tender, about 4 minutes. Uncover and cook, stirring, until liquid has evaporated. Add molasses mixture with tomatoes, pinto beans, kidney beans, and olives. Cook, stirring gently, until mixture is hot and tomatoes are soft, about 5 minutes. Ladle chili into bowls, top with yogurt. Sprinkle with pepper flakes to taste. Makes 4 servings. Cooking time: about 10 minutes.

Succotash is recognized as a Southern dish of corn and lima beans, sometimes with other vegetables added. The word "succotash" actually comes from the Algonquian Indian word "msickquatash" meaning boiled whole kernels of corn."

Historians say that early settlers learned about succotash from the Algonquians, who not only grew corn and beans together in the same field, but cooked them in the same pot.

Here is the recipe for the versatile stew that makes a great family meal or a weekend supper for guests.

VEAL SUCCOTASH-STYLE STEW

4 teaspoons vegetable oil, divided
1¼ pounds veal for stew, cubed
2 cups coarsely chopped onion
1 garlic clove, crushed
1⅓ cups water
2 bay leaves
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon coarse grind black pepper
2½ cups frozen mixed vegetables
1 tablespoon cornstarch, dissolved in 2 tablespoons water

Heat 2 teaspoons oil in large heavy saucepan over medium heat. Brown veal in two batches, adding 1 additional teaspoon oil as needed. Remove from pan; reserve. Cook onion and garlic in remaining 1 teaspoon oil over medium heat until crisp-tender, about 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Return veal to pan. Add water, bay leaves, salt, thyme, and pepper. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 50 minutes; add vegetables and continue cooking, covered, 10 minutes or until veal is tender. Stir in cornstarch mixture. Bring to a boil; cook and stir until sauce is thickened, about 1 to 2 minutes. Remove bay leaves before serving. 6 servings.

Food Service Sanitation Course Begins Jan. 26

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) – The purpose of this course is to give individuals information to oversee and train other employees in the safe handling of food. Managers, chefs, supervisory personnel, kitchen managers and anyone who is responsible for safe food handling in restaurants, schools, supermarkets, churches, soup kitchen, "delies", fire companies, granges and health care establishments should plan to attend.

The National Restaurant Association Applied Food Service Sanitation Certification Course is planned for Mondays, January 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., February 2 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on February 9 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The course will be held at Berks County Agricultural Center, Bern Township. Lunch will be provided on the full days. The third day will end upon completion of the National Restaurant Certification Examination.

The program is co-sponsored by the Penn State Cooperative Extension of Berks County and Penn State-Berks Campus.

Dr. Hassan Gourama, associate professor of food science, Penn State Berks-Lehigh Valley College; Patricia Taylor, food inspector, Department of Agriculture, and Fay B. Strickler, extension home economist, Penn State Cooperative Extension, will be the instructors.

The purpose of this course is to empower individuals with knowledge to oversee and train other employees in the safe handling of food. Topics covered include, but are not limited to providing safe food, the microworld, contamination, and foodborne illness, Hazard analysis Critical Control Points (HACCP), protecting food in preparation and serving, purchasing and receiving safe food, cleaning and sanitizing, sanitation regulations and standards and employee sanitation training.

Class size is limited to the first 35 paid registrants. Registration will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. Course will require reading of textbook and independent study. Cost for the course is $85.

Registration is requested and is due on or before January 22. Send a check made payable to Berks County Extension Special Account. Mail to, Food Service Course, Berks County Cooperative extension, Berks County Ag Center, PO Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533-0520. Include your name, address and phone number.

Hand Washing: A Germ's Worst Enemy

(NAPS)—Germs They're lurking everywhere. Any object or surface that people touch with their hands can harbor a wide variety of menacing microbes But doctors agree that washing with an antibacterial soap and warm water for at least 30 seconds effectively removes most bacteria.

In fact, 63 percent of family physicians recently polled agree that antibacterial soap is more effective than regular soap and warm water for killing germs.

"The best way to reduce the spread of germs is to wash your hands at every opportunity, especially if you use an antibacterial soap," says Dr. Sloan Beth Karver, an associate clinical professor at Allegheny University in Philadelphia, Pa "Unfortunately, that's a habit most people don't practice often enough "

Antibacterial soaps, such as Lever 2000, give hand washing a boost by inhibiting bacteria growth for several hours. But unlike other leading brands which can be irritating and drying to skin, clinical studies have shown that Lever 2000 is the mildest antibacterial bar soap on the market. It's also the one ranked no 1 among dermatologists and pediatricians

Here are some extra pointers from Dr. Karver on how and when to wash your hands

- Always rub hands vigorously under warm water, which is better for killing germs
- Be sure to wash all the tiny cracks and crevices, including wrists, back of hands, between fingers and under nails.
- Always scrub up well after using the bathroom, changing diapers, handling garbage, before preparing and eating food, and as often as possible when you or a family member is sick.

QUESTION — Grace Rumer, Abington, is looking for a recipe for individual crumb buns with cheese pockets. Her husband ate some, which he said were delicious, on the Ocean City Boardwalk in New Jersey.

ANSWER — Thanks to Chris Knisely, Mullica Hill, N.J., for sending recipes for pickled limes that a reader had requested. Although Chris has not made them, she received the recipes through a preserving discussion group on the internet.

Moroccan Preserved Lemons

Make a lengthwise cut in the lemon on one end, going almost all the way to the other. Then make a similar cut from the other end at 90 degrees from the first. Pry each cut open, and pack as much canning salt in the cut as you can. Pack these into jars tightly. Fairly soon the juices will be leached out of the lemons, turning the entire jar into a gelatinous mixture. You can throw spices in the jars with the lemons (cloves, etc.). Pick up a book on North African (Tunisia, Moroccan, etc.) cooking and you are ready to go. The flavor of the lemons is quite unique, and is what gives that distinctive flavor to tajines.

Preserved Lemons

Slice 2 pounds large lemons into thick slices or simply quarter small lemons lengthwise. Dust with 3 tablespoons salt and let set for 12 hours turning occasionally. Drain, pack into a large jar and cover with olive oil and store in a dark cool place for one month before sampling. After opening, continue to store in dark, cool place.

Lime Pickle

25 limes
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups vinegar (approximately)

Piece the limes using a fork. Mix vinegar, salt and heat on stove while stirring. When mixture begins to boil, add the limes (including any juice left behind). Continue to heat, turning the limes from time to time. Heat until the lime rinds discolor and shrink. Pour the mix into a preserve jar (fill it to the top), close lid tightly and leave it in a cupboard for about six months.

Process quarts through a boiling water bath for 20 minutes or pints for 15 minutes to eliminate the six month wait.

I recently picked up a jar of pickled limes in a Chinese supermarket in Philadelphia. I found this recipe from Sri Lanka posted on a computer at the University of New Foundland. It said that Lunu Dehi can be used in chutneys or with rice and curry. I modified it slightly to English units from metric and changed the packing into a jar to a hot rather than cold pack. I also added the boiling water bath speedup.

ANSWER — Sylvia Murphy, Ulster, sent in two breakfast recipes.

Marie's French Toast

1 loaf Italian bread, 1-inch slices
Mix:
6 eggs
3 cups milk
4 teaspoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease 13x9-inch pan. Lay in bread slices. Pour mixture over and refrigerate overnight. Before baking cut up 2 tablespooon s butter on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve with strawberry sauce:
10-ounces strawberries
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons strawberry preserves
Mix ingredients in blender and chill.

Apple Pancake

Heat 10-inch skillet to 475 degrees.
In meantime, saute in another pan until tender:
1½ cups apples
1½ tablespoons butter
In blender, mix together:
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup flour
1 cup milk
6 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

In hot skillet, put 2 tablespoons butter, apples, and batter. Bake at 475 degrees for 15 minutes; lower temperature to 375 degrees and bake until it tests done with toothpick.
Serve with maple syrup.

ANSWER — Several weeks ago we printed a recipe for fish pie requested by a reader. The ingredients did not contain fish. We questioned why it was named fish pie when it obviously included no seafood. Thanks to Bill Morrow for answering. He said that the pie was originally called "fizz pie" because the dough fizzed from the baking soda, baking powder, and buttermilk combination. Over the years, Pennsylvania Dutch folks mistakenly mispronounced the "fizz" pie as fish pie.

FESTIVE HOMESTYLE CHOWDER

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup sliced celery
1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon pepper
5 cups milk
3 large potatoes, cubed
6 slices, bacon, cooked, crumbled
8-ounce package crab flakes or chunks

Melt butter in heavy saucepan over medium heat. Stir in onions and celery. Cook and stir until tender. Stir in flour, thyme, pepper, and gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Add potatoes. Bring to a boil, simmer 15 minutes (until potatoes are tender). Add bacon and crab. Heat 3-5 minutes. Serve.

GRANDMA MURPHY'S CHOWDER

2 pounds potatoes, diced
6 strips bacon, diced
½ cup onion, diced
1½ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
¾ cup celery, diced
2 medium carrots, diced
1 bouillon cube (beef or chicken)
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon cayenne

Saute bacon and onion in heavy skillet. Add remaining ingredients and cook until vegetables are tender. Stir in cream sauce. Heat and serve. Note: Substitute ham cut into cubes in place of bacon.

Cream sauce:
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons flour, stir and cook 1 minute
3 cups milk, add to above and stir until thickened.

CHEESEBURGER SOUP

½ pound ground beef
¾ cup chopped onion
¾ cup shredded carrots
¾ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
4 tablespoons butter, divided
3 cups chicken broth
4 cups diced peeled potatoes
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2 cups American cheese, cubed
1½ cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ to ½ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup sour cream

In a 3-quart saucepan, brown beef; drain and set aside. In the same saucepan, saute onion, carrots, celery, basil, and parsley in 1 tablespoon butter until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Add broth, potatoes, and beef; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer for 10-12 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Meanwhile, in a small skillet, melt remaining butter. Add flour, cook and stir for 3-5 minutes or until bubbly. Add to soup; bring to a boil. Cook and stir for 2 minutes. Reduce heat to low. Add cheese, milk, salt, and pepper; cook and stir until cheese melts. Remove from the heat; blend in sour cream. Yield: 8 servings.

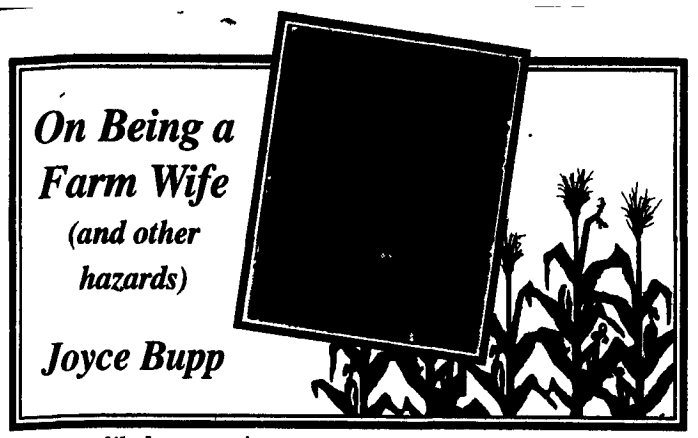
MILK. IT DOES A BODY GOOD.™



It's an unlikely scenario.

Black and white figures dotting the hillsides, heads down intently, munching away at green grass. Cattle grazing? So what, you say?

We have never grazed this farm-and least not in my memory-in January. But then, how many January's in southcentral Pennsylvania have there even been when cattle could chow down fresh, growing, green grass?

Like most producers of livestock in these parts, summer's drought left us seriously short of feedstuffs. So, as quickly as possible, we harvested the short corn crop last fall and immediately followed it with plantings of an oats-rye mixture. Intent was that these cool-tolerant grasses would thrive in early fall and provide some backup tonnage of forage to help make up the difference. Again, the weather was uncooperatively; the grass crop just didn't develop the height and volume it should have, though it did add some precious volume to the winter supplies.

Thus, with lingering temperature weather and continuing, if slow, growth of the crop, we hastily strung temporary fences around almost the entire farm. And the "girls" were turned out in alternating areas to harvest grasses too short to cut with equipment. Though they only enjoy the stay outside for an hour or two each day, even that has helped fill their ever-hungry, four-stomach interiors and somewhat reduce the daily inroads into our skimpy stores of feed.

And, the girls love it.

But setting them loose across the farm has it's interesting moments, since cows turned out on new turf behave like a group of exuberant kindergartners on a new playground. The week of wintery stuff over the holidays interrupted their daily recess it's hard to graze snow and kept them confined to the feeding and exercise lots. So when last week's stretch of April-like weather arrived, they practically knocked the fences down to hit the grassy slopes.

Like baby calves their first time out of the pen, those mature, milking bovines jump, run, kick up their heels and butt one another. Cavoring sometimes right through our hastily-strung, temporary-grazing site fences.

And, at least the first few days on new pasture, cattle can't just go eat the waiting green grass. Instead, they must trot around to the farthest corners of the fence. See if they can go under it. Or Over. Or through. All of which ours did at some point.

Anticipating this predictable behavior, We have ridden fencelines, cowboy style, with the three-wheeler. Our cows are accustomed to being herded with cycle-type horsepower and respond well. Since those first few days of testing the limits, the herd has settled into a routine of scattering across the hillsides, harvesting brunch, them promptly lining back up to return to the feed bunk when the feed mixer wagon goes by.

One bit of bad behavior that persists is their breaking into our fenced-off stash of round bales of hay in the center of the field below the house. Not necessarily to eat the hay. Just to play. They push and shove at the bales with their heads, butt them, rub against them, and just generally shred them, a layer at a time, until the bales are trashed. The girls know those bales are off limits, but cows are drawn to forbidden turf like steel to a magnet.

Increasing numbers of dairy products in recent years have adapted various grazing techniques, letting the cows at partly replace the mechanical methods of forage harvesting. Of course, it's still necessary to have winter stores of feed put away, so the cattle have something to eat when grasses have shriveled up and snow blankets the pastures.

We've often debated the merits of grazing. But who'd have "Thunk" we'd incorporated it into our feeding program...in January?

D'ya suppose this is a forerunner to a killing frost on Memorial Day?

WE'VE ALWAYS BEEN GOOD.

NOW WE'RE EVEN BETTER.

REALLY GOOD...

given Mueller an excellent reputation. When it comes to dairy production, our customers demand quality in their cooling and storage vessels. They know Mueller has always been the company to set this standard worldwide.

Dependable and durable, our milk coolers will provide you with years of trouble-free performance as well as low operating cost, precise temperature control and a wide range of standard features.

"BETTER", to the employees and engineers at Mueller, means constantly improving our already great products. We have added convenience to our tank washer system by attaching the motor to the side of each milk cooler smaller than 3000 gallons. At the same time, we have added quality by installing the most effective interior washing device in the industry. Mueller's tank washing spray dish is an innovative one-of-a-kind design which more evenly distributes the cleaning solution throughout the tanks interior. It prevents clogging and offers maintenance free cleaning. This high performance process will give you extra clean tanks.

For the BEST products with the best performance, you can always count on Mueller. For more information see your nearest dealer or call 1-800-MUELLER.

Popular with kids of all ages is the NASA simulator, which gave visitors a taste of life in orbit.

Eight-year-old Carl Rudy leads Spooker, a Welsh Mountain Pony, through the crowd at the Farm Show. Carl is the son of Fred and Linda Rudy. His dad is a Dauphin County extension agent.

What's A Kid To Do At Farm Show?

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — What's a kid to do at the State Farm Show?

Plenty.

In fact, there's more to do than one can actually cover in one day.

Kids of all ages spend a lot of time in the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center located in the Northeast Building, upper level of the Farm Show.

Games, toys, and even a tunnel slide are there for kids to enjoy.

The Shaver's Creek Environmental Center teach sessions throughout the day on such things as live birds of prey. Master gardeners demonstrate how to make critters from pods, seeds, cones, and other natural products and 4-H'ers teach sessions on puppy care and other things they learn in 4-H.

If you're lucky, you might be in the upper level when cake, cookies, and pies are sliced and distributed to those who'd like to sample the food contest entries.

It depends on what day you attend the show, but in the large arena, daily events such as a rodeo, or horse pulling or draft horses attract large audiences. Sometimes it's difficult to find a seat, but there are thousands of seats and if you hang around, you're sure to find one.

Make sure to take a look at the rabbits. Many unusual rabbits are on display. Watch the cows and sheep getting hair cuts, the horses and steers getting primped for a show, and the crazy antics of the pigs.

Of course, there's plenty of good things to eat. For kids, the favorites continue to be old standbys such as French fries, cotton candy, milk shakes, and hamburgers. But for parents and the more adventurous, portabella mushrooms and baked trout sound more appealing.

(Turn to Page B11)

A tunnel slide provides entertainment for kids in the Family Living area.

The Farm Show crowd cheers for rodeo riders during the Saturday afternoon show in the large arena.

Hands on learning is available at the Farm Show.

What's A Kid To Do?

Watch out Ashley, you just lost some of your cotton candy to your 10-month-old brother John. Stephanie, 3, finds it hilarious. The children's parents are Mark and Tammy Kitner, beef farmers from Dillsburg.

Amy Berdamier of Harrisburg is ready for takeoff at the NASA booth. An electronic still camera snapped pictures to take home of each child that climbed into the space suit.

Be certain to wear comfortable walking shoes—there's steps galore and more walking than you've ever done before if you go from event to event.

If you'd like to add a Farm Show flair to your wardrobe, you can purchase a cowboy hat and a pair of boots. Lots of other neat little gadgets are also for sale.

In the dairy barn, the booth at the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Promotion Services has games for kids to win cow erasers, stickers, and other goodies.

Tired?

If you're family's showing cows, you may want to snuggle up in the barns next to your favorite bovine animal and take a nap. Or, if you're like Natalie Buck from Berks County, you're spend the night in the hay.

More than farm animals are at the Farm Show. Here kids have an opportunity to learn about wildlife.

Other tractors are 'almost good enough' to get your work done. Other tractors are 'almost right' for the job. You don't have to settle for less. MF 1200 Series Tractors are what you need.

Farm Show Judges Find Brownie Bites Irresistable

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — No doubt about it. Ami Martin bakes irresistable brownies. This year and in 1995, her brownies convinced judges to give her the top prize in the Hershey's Greatest Cookie Contest. The prize is a weekend trip for four to the Hershey Resort and Conference Center in Hershey.

That's no easy feat for a 15-year-old who competed against 63 entries at last Saturday's Farm Show competition.

Ami said that her recipe is fashioned after Black Bottom Cupcakes made into brownies. She is the daughter of Barbara Martin and David Krapf of Allentown.

Brittany Monday of West Chester received second place with her Surprise Hug Cookies. Third prize for Pizza Brownies went to Lisa Jones of York.

Here are the recipes from the contest co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs and Hershey Foods.

Ami's Irresistable Brownie Bites

⅔ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
6½ tablespoons shortening
1 tablespoon vanilla
6 tablespoons Hershey's cocoa

Combine flour, baking powder, and salt in a small bowl. Mix eggs and sugar in large bowl. Add melted shortening, cocoa, and flour to sugar-egg mixture, stir well. Add vanilla. Pour half of mixture into a greased 9x13-inch pan. Reserve remaining batter to spread over top of cream cheese-chocolate chip mixture.

Cream Cheese-Chocolate Chip Filling:

4 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 egg
¼ cup sugar

Beat together until creamy. Add half package of chocolate baking chips to mixture. Spread gently over brownie batter in pan. Take remaining brownie batter and gently spread over the cream cheese-chip filling layer. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until toothpick inserted comes out clean.

Frost with buttercream icing using decorator tip and bag. Sprinkle with edible glitter.

Butter cream frosting:

¼ cup shortening
½ teaspoon clear vanilla
¼ cup milk
¼ cup butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar

Cream butter and shortening with mixer. Add vanilla. Gradually add sugar a half cup at a time, beating well on medium speed. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl often. When all sugar has been mixed in, icing will appear dry. Add milk and beat at medium speed until light and fluffy. Keep icing covered with a damp cloth until ready to use.

Brittany Monday's Surprise Hug Cookies

12-ounces semi-sweet chocolate chips
¼ cup butter
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons baking cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
60 Hershey Hugs with Almonds, unwrapped
1 cup white chocolate chips
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
2 teaspoons shortening

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In medium saucepan, combine chocolate chips and butter. Cook and stir over very low heat until chips are melted and smooth. Add sweetened condensed milk and mix well.

Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. Lightly spoon cocoa and combine with flour.

Add chocolate mixture and vanilla. Mix well. Shape one tablespoon of dough around each Hershey Hug covering completely. Place one-inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for six minutes. Do not overbake. Cookies will be soft and shiny but will be firm when cooled.

In small saucepan, melt 1 cup white chocolate chips with 1 teaspoon shortening until melted and smooth. Dunk half of cooled cookie in white chocolate.

Farm Women 'Mooove' Ahead With Acts Of Kindness

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A farm womam's life has changed dramatically since the founding of the Society of Farm Women Of Pennsylvania in 1914. Then many farm women had no income, no social life, and little education.

Today's farm wife is often educated, has her own income, and is swamped by social activities and family responsibilities.

The state organization has attempted to adapt to the time constraits upon its 2,772 members by reducing the two-day annual convention to a one-day affair, held the first Monday of Farm Show week. Instead of gowns (once the required dress for the evening banquet) comfortable shoes and slacks are acceptable mode. The by-laws have been slightly modified, and members are no longer required to live on the farm, although they must agree to uphold the dignity of farming.

But some things never change. The organization continues to work tirelessly to make their communities a better place to live and to contribute to those in need.

"Acts of Kindness," is the project implemented by state president Lois Hughes from Cambria County to be the focus of her three-year term.

The 79th annual state convention was a time to recount and encourage each other in the thousands of ways to carry out acts of kindness.

The state society is composed of individual societies, which raise thousands of dollars for charity by holding food, garage, craft sales and other fundraisers.

Project chairman and state director Janet Schlegel from Berks County handed out certificates to the counties participating in the project.

In keeping with tradition, morning and afternoon sessions are held in the auditorium of the state Forum and culminates with a banquet at the Penn Harris Hotel in the evening.

Evidence that the society upholds the sanctity of God, country and family prevails throughout the three sessions, which opens with devotions, pledge of allegiance to the flag, and singing songs such as "Pennsylvania" and the theme song "Brighten the Corner."

In a world that seems largely preoccupied with "getting ahead" and "watching out for oneself," the Farm Women's Collect seemed refreshingly jolting as they recited "Keep us, O Lord, from pettiness. . .and let us not forget to be kind."

It hardly seems possible that kindness could be omitted in an organization that is so committed to providing needs for the homeless, victims of fire, of illness, and other disasters. Members continually lend support to such organizations as the Salvation Army, Red Cross, Mom's House, Meals on Wheels, Make-A-Wish, community libraries, fire and ambulance services, and numerous other service organization.

Another predominate effort of Farm Women is to provide scholarships to students pursuing agricultural- and home economical-related careers. Recipients must be the child or grandchild of a living or deceased member. The 1997 scholarship winners who received $1,000 each included Jere Wingert, Franklin County; Amanda Wingert, Franklin County; Janice Youse, Berks County; and Cory Meyers, Franklin County.

Five students received $500 scholarships: Elizabeth Harmon, Dauphin County; Michael Miduri, Dauphin County; Daniel Heller, Lancaster County, and Bryan Pearson, Cambria County.

The Flora Black Memorial Scholarship Fund was established in 1960, but the fund was given a financial boost when former state president Naomi Bupp oversaw the printing of the organization's cookbook in 1991. The cookbook is expected to go into its tenth printing this year. In addition to about $22,000 designated to scholarships, another $10,000 was placed in special trust fund with the shares reinvested. The fund has now grown to $43,978.

In addition, treasurer Barbara Nissley also reported that the balance in the checking account is

Consuming Thoughts

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Did you know that good nutrition plays an important role in the prevention of lead poisoning. Although nutrition does not cure lead poisoning, studies show that poor eating habits can contribute to the absorption of lead.

Emphasis should be given to calcium, iron, vitamin C and fat, because of their absorption mechanisms. Another important recommendation is the consumption of regular meals and snacks.

Calcium: As we all know, calcium helps build and keep strong bones and teeth. If the diet is low in calcium the body takes calcium from reserves in the bones. When lead is absorbed it is primarily stored in the bones. A diet adequate in calcium will prevent lead from being pulled into the bloodstream, where it can damage other sensitive organs. Good sources of calcium include milk, cheese, and yogurt.

Iron: The lower the iron content in the diet the more lead would be circulating and utilized in place of iron, which means that less hemoglobin is formed. It is important to assure that there is enough iron to compete with lead and prevent it's absorption. Dietary iron can be found in lean red meat, dried fruit (prunes, raisins) spinach, poultry, and fish.

Vitamin C: The role of vitamin C is to help in the absorption of iron thus preventing anemia. Eat plenty of citrus fruit, strawberries, and cantaloupes.

Fat: If the diet is high in fat more lead is absorbed since fat slows down the digestive system giving more change for lead to stay in the stomach and be absorbed. However, children younger than 2 years of age should not have low-fat diets. The recommendation is similar to the Recommended Dietary Guidelines and the Food Guide Pyramid which is to have only 30% of calories from fat or using it sparingly.

The three groups that are at the most risk for lead poisoning are children, pregnant women and lactating women. The absorption rate of lead for children is higher than for adults. It is recommended that lead screening should be done twice a year for children 6 months to 3 years and once a year for 3-6 year old children.

Sources of Contamination: Lead based paint is the most common source of lead. Before 1980 lead was added to paint. Old houses, cars, and toys may still have layers of lead-based paint. Leaded paint becomes a risk for children when they eat paint chips or when lead paint is deposited into soil around the home. Therefore it is important to maintain clean floors and window surfaces and encourage children to wash their hands before eating.

Tap water can also be another source of lead. Although water levels of lead are low, it may be contaminated within the distribution system. It is recommended to let the water run for 3-5 minutes in the morning, before using it. This practice will help to eliminate the water stocked overnight that may have obtained lead from plumbing or solder used to connect water pipes.

Lead, soil and your vegetable garden – some soils can be contaminated with lead. This can occur next to older homes painted with lead based-paint, in orchids where lead-based insecticides were used, and near traffic corridors where lead was contained in automobile exhaust.

Gardeners should be aware that when grown in lead-tainted soils, leafy vegetables (lettuce, spinach, collard greens) and root vegetables (carrots, potatoes) can contain high levels of lead. Above-ground vegetables and fruits (tomatoes, strawberries) will contain lower amounts of lead.

Farm Women 'Mooove' Ahead With Acts Of Kindness

$5,986; a balance of $2,251 in the scholarship account; and $2,529 in a savings account.

Carolyn Neal of York County was elected to fill the expired treasurer's spot on the board. Carolyn is from a dairy farm, "loves the land, respects farmers, and understands the trials of farming." She has held all the offices in the York Society since her membership in 1977. In addition, Carolyn has worked 32 years in banking and has two children.

Elected as one of seven directors was Florence Vaitl, Ephrata. Florence follows in the footsteps of her grandmother Florence Mohler who was a state president in 1937-40 and her mother Esther Stuber who is still active in Lancaster County Society 3. Florence recently retired from a career as nursing home administrator. She and her husband Rudolf have three children, four stepchildren, and three grandchildren.

Members paid tribute to the deaths of 68 members (mostly the result of aging) as Kathryn Fry, Lancaster, read the names and Allegra Leininger (president of Lancaster County Society) placed $1 for each name in a box to be given to the Gideons Bible Society.

Although the society lost 68 members through death, 99 new members have joined the organization during the past year.

Certificates were presented to the 12 counties who received new members. The counties with the most significant increase in memberships include Huntingdon, Somerset, and Dauphin.

Not all the activity at the annual meeting focuses on business and reports. The afternoon session included a skit by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Nichole Meabon, entertainment by The Troubadours from Red Lion, and an inspiring presentation of the Applachia Service Project, in which volunteers take exising housing to make them warmer, safer, and dryer. More than 7,180 families have benefitted from the project since its inception.

Entertainment at the evening banquet included Bellzapoppin by Kinnier & Townsend and an inspiration presentation by Janine Cesare, president of the Pennsylvania Special Olympics, and Beth Greenawalt, who has participated in three international Special Olympics.

About 240 members traveled by bus or carload to attend the banquet. Many of the membership are aging and no longer find it possible to travel in the unpredictable winter weather, but delegates from each society will report on the activities during individual society meetings.

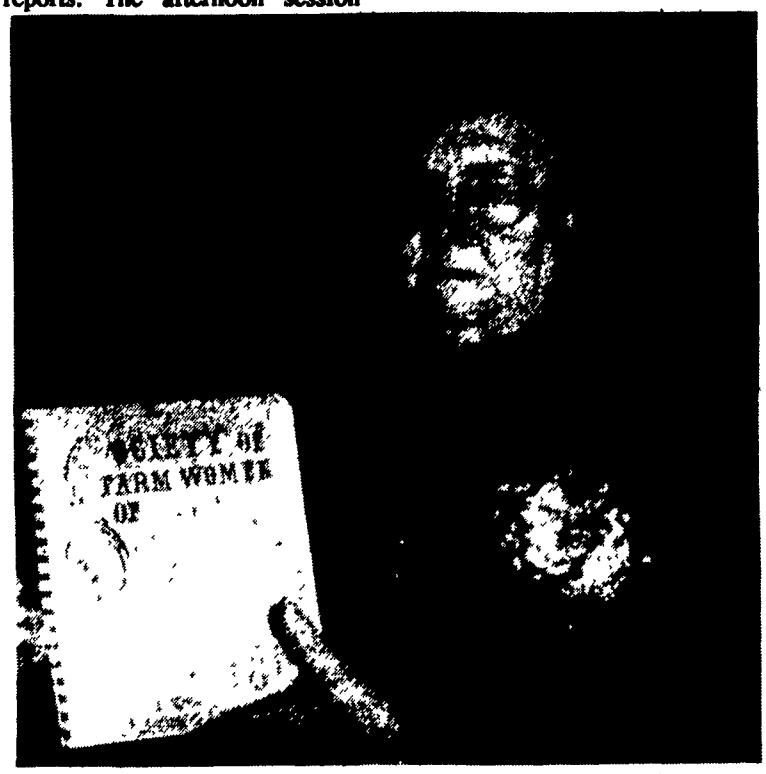
Florence Vaiti considers she did not have a choice on whether or not to continue her family's tradition in Farm Women Society leadership. Her mother Esther Stuber, left, took her to her first executive board meeting when she was six weeks old and her grandmother Florence Mohler was a state president from 1937-1940.



Profits from the sale of "The Society of Farm Women Cookbook," continues to fund the scholarship fund. Former state president Naomi Bupp coordinated the cookbook.

Living on a Reduced Income -Deciding If Bankruptcy is an Option for you

If you find yourself "overextended" and have tried financial counseling, budgeting and reduced payments and still can't make headway on your debts, bankruptcy may become an option worth investigating.

When you're incurred more debt than you think you can reasonably be repaid, bankruptcy can be a way to debt relief. Filing for bankruptcy, however, brings long-term consequences for your credit rating.

Bankruptcy Explained

Bankruptcy adjusts the relationship between you as a debtor and your creditors. Many of your debts will be forgiven. You are allowed to keep some property, known as exempt items. The rest of your property is sold and the money used to pay off your debts. Your creditors may receive nothing, a small amount per dollar owed or be paid off entirely. The proceedings take place in federal courts and are governed by federal law.

Keep in mind that bankruptcy is the "ultimate torpedo to your ship of credit." Bankruptcy will remain on your credit record for ten years. If you file bankruptcy you may not be able to obtain credit even for necessary purchases, such as a car. Once you have filed for bankruptcy, you are not able to file again for seven years.

Bankruptcy no longer carries the social stigma it once did. Yet, many families feel embarrassed and ashamed about declaring bankruptcy. They feel hostility from neighbors and business owners who accuse them of "walking away from their debts."

Deciding to Declare Bankrupty

If you're considering bankruptcy, contact a lawyer experienced in bankruptcy proceedings. The lawyer can help you prepare necessary documents and file with the court. Discuss attorney and court fees at the first appointment because costs vary.

As you consider bankruptcy, you will have a number of decisions to make. Access your situation to decide if bankruptcy is the best solution to your debt problem. Then, decide which type of bankruptcy to file. The areas to plan carefully are debt repayment plans, exemptions, and tax implications.

There are four provisions in the bankruptcy laws. Chapter 7 is used most often by people who are unemployed or very deeply in debt. Chapter 13 is used by people who have an income. Chapter 11 is for businesses filing bankruptcy. A fourth provision, Chapter 12, was established for farm families.

Chapter 7 Bankruptcy

Chapter 7 is a "liquidation" of nonexempt assets to pay debts. It is also referred to as straight bankruptcy. Through a lawyer you petition the court to have yourself declared unable to pay your debts.

In filing Chapter 7 bankruptcy, most of your honesty incurred debts—those not incurred by fraud or intentional harm to another person or property—are canceled (discharged). You receive a fresh start without worrying about past creditors coming to you for payment. In exchange, you surrender all property not exempt under state or federal law to a trustee who will divide it among your creditors in proportion to what you owe.

As you consider Chapter 7 bankruptcy, take an inventory of your debts to determine which can be canceled (discharged).

Chapter 13

Chapter 13 is known as the debtor-rehabilitation chapter. Under Chapter 13, the debtor who can make regular payments is given the opportunity to propose a realistic plan to pay his/her creditors over three to five years supervised by a trustee. A spouse without regular income may file joint bankruptcy with an income-earning spouse.

If you file Chapter 13 bankruptcy, your income is used to pay part or all of the debts through a plan filed with the bankruptcy court. The repayment plan must be filed in "good faith" and designed so that creditors receive at least as much as they would have under Chapter 7 bankruptcy.

If you want further information on bankruptcy and procedures for filing, contact your local Bar Association.

Cook's Question

ANSWER—For those who wanted the internet number for gingerbread in a jar, here it is thanks to Chris Knisely, Mullica Hill, N.J. A recipe can be found at http://www.geocities. com/Heartland/Estates/2953/food.htm #jarginger.

For readers who don't have internet access, here is a recipe.

Gingerbread In A Jar

2¼ cups all-purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup margarine, softened
¾ cup hot water
½ cup molasses

Preheat oven to 350 degrees (pan method) or 325-degrees for jars. Grease (use shortening) a 9x9x2-inch baking pan of five crystal jelly jars with straight sides, no bulges in the jars. Also, sterilize the jar by boiling for 10 minutes, leave lids and rings in the water until ready to use; Remove jars and allow to air dry and cool before greasing. Use a pastry brush to grease the jars. Do not use vegetable spray.

In a large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger, cinnamon, and cloves. Stir in margarine, water, and molasses until well blended.

Pour into prepared pan or divide equally among the five jars. Place jars on a cookie sheet or they'll tip over. Pan Method: Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 40-50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool slightly on wire rack. Jar method: bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 35-40 minutes or until cake tester inserted deep into the center of each jar comes out clean.

Have your lids hot. Take one jar at a time from the oven (using heavy-duty mitts—the jars are hot) and place a lid on, then the ring. Tightly screw on lids. Allow to cool on your counter top. You'll know when the jars have sealed, you'll hear a "plinking" sound. If you don't know when the jars have sealed, then press down on the jar lids, they shouldn't move at all.

Second Progeny Test Gives In-Depth Look At Genetics

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Bill Haines' philosophy can work wonders, of a sort — breed for a larger-framed hog and the muscle "package" will follow.

It was this tactic that garnered him champion of the on-foot evaluation of the swine progeny test show at the Farm Show last week.

Haines showed a 287-pound gilt from the heavyweight class, bred to a York/Hampshire sow from a Duroc boar. The boar was obtained from Dave Holloway.

"I breed for a big-framed pig," said Haines. "This pig grew really well. It was the fastest growing pig on test."

There were 80 pigs on test. Like other exhibitors, Haines brought four pigs to the test.

This was the first time Haines participated in the progeny test, the second one of the Farm Show.

Haines said he was familiar with the background of the sow, from his own dozen-sow herd, as well as the Duroc boar from Holloway.

The four he selected were picked for their frame size when they went to the test at 60-80 pounds.

Haines said the farm-named "Champ" sow won at the Shippensburg Fair in 1992. He took her back and decided to breed her. He sells show hogs. He's been breeding show hogs for about seven years.

Haines works on the family 300-tillable acre family farm in Shippensburg.

For the second year in a row, the Parletts of Airville placed high in the championship, winning reserve champion of the on-foot evaluation segment of the show.

Gus Parlett exhibited the 230-pound Hamp/Duroc crossbred.

"When put on a test like that, the genetics come out," said Jim Parlett during the open swine show last week.

Parlett said that during the on-foot evaluation, conducted the day before, the judges look at several factors, including rate of gain, phenotype, average daily gain, and feed conversion.

Often, coming up with the ideal animal to compete is "kind of a crapshoot," said Parlett. The use of particular genetics and "channeling" those genetics usually presents the most competitive offspring.

Parlett brought two pens of Duroc purebred and crossbred hogs. Parlett also submitted several hogs to Hatfield for their own on-rail genetic determination.

The interesting point is that all hogs are put on the same feed and "treated the same," so that the true genetics are presented, according to Parlett.

Following is a list of show placings.

It Took 20 Years, But Halls Finally Get Swine Supreme

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Structurally correct. Long-footed. Lean.

Those are words to describe grand champions, and the judge of the open swine show last week at the Farm Show used them in describing the champion before it was picked as supreme.

Late last week, a January Yorkshire gilt shown by Charles Hall and his son Mark of Rattlesnake Mt. Farms was picked supreme over all hogs. Last Saturday, Gov. Tom Ridge presented the award for the gilt, CBH7 Sue (S: HOE6 Irish 25-1, D: CBH6 Sue 16-5).

Rattlesnake Mt. Farms, Julian, originally swept the Yorkshire gilt show held the day before, also picking up reserve for the second place January gilt, CBH7 Sue (S: FTP5 Image 35-1, D: CBH5 Sue 2-6).

Hall has been showing pigs since he was eight years old and has shown for about 20 years at the Farm Show, and finally took home a trophy. "This was the first time we ever had a supreme champion," he said.

The supreme was sold for $725 to a buyer in Illinois at the gilt sale following the announcement.

The Halls raise 500 hogs of Yorkshire and Hampshire purebreds. The 200-acre farm also houses beef cattle and sheep.

Gale Bressner, also last year's show judge and a Chester White purebred breeder from Chenoa, Ill., spoke about his decisions on the other breeds at the beginning of Farm Show Week. The gilts were judged on Friday and the supreme champion was selected during last Saturday's opening day of Farm Show activities.

In all, several exhibitors swept the shows. Greg and Beth Innerst, Red Lion, swept the Chester White show. Grant Lazarus III swept the Landrace competition. Cheryl Bennecoff swept the Poland China classes. And Rattlesnake Mt. Farms swept the Yorkshire competition, the largest number of animals of any of the eight show breeds.

After the selection of the supreme last Saturday, the gilts were sold.

Following are the other breed champions in the order they were judged.

Berkshires

Bressner chose the February gilt shown by Greg and Beth Innerst, Red Lion, GBI 7 Rossette Lady (S: GBI Fasinator 21-10, D: WB 6 Rosette C's Starlette 23-4), as champion Berkshire.

Bressner noted, "If I was going to start a Berkshire herd, she's the one I'd put in there."

Bressner said he was impressed with the excellent teat quality and underline of the "very feminine gilt."

Reserve in the class went to the first place March gilt, also shown by the Innersts, GBI 7 MS Sequel Clare (S: BDB5 Clarence 4-9, D: GBI Miss Spencer 9-2). The reserve looked "good in the underline," said Bressner.

Chester White

A January Chester White gilt that was "second to no state" gleamed in Bressner's eyes.

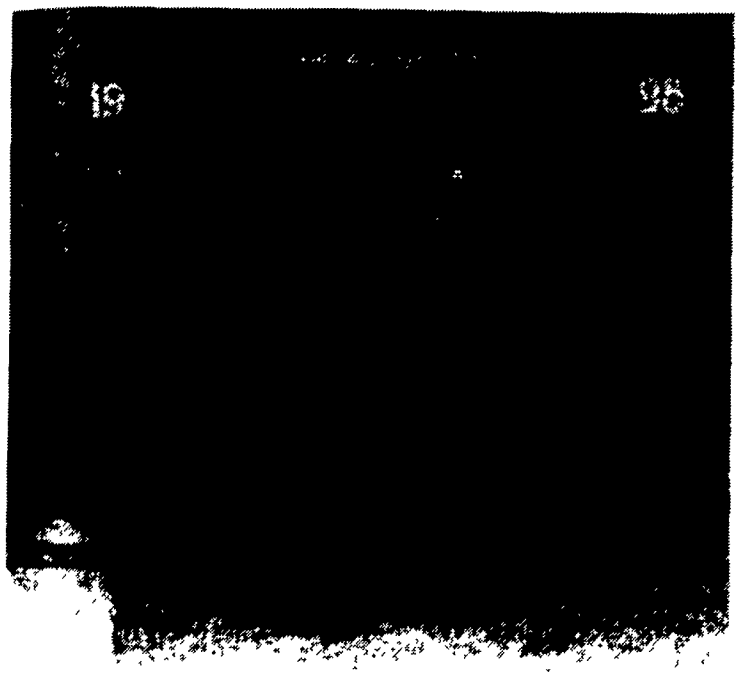
Bressner selected the January gilt shown by Ken Wetzel and Family, Rossiter, as supreme champion of the Open Swine Show.

Bressner said the Chester White female was an "impressive brood sow" and that exhibitors and audience wouldn't be able to see quality that compares to it in "any state event," he said.

Bressner chose the gilt, KWF17 Angie 117921013 (S: SCFH6 Snowman, D: KEW16 Angie), exhibited by Wetzel, calling it a gilt of quality that "you just won't find (anywhere else)."

The January gilt looks like it could be the most productive at this point in her life, Bressner told the exhibitors.

The reserve of the class was also shown by Ken Wetzel, the second place January gilt, a gilt "that can generate more for Chester White hogs." The reserve was KWF17 Ms. Tonto Gonzal 117922008.



Berkshire champion at the Farm Show went to Greg Innerst.

Duroc

Bressner selected a March gilt exhibited by David C. Holloway, Glen Rock, as champion Duroc.

Bressner, who noted that he chose a Duroc supreme champion at the Farm Show about eight years ago, selected DCHH7 Ms Strongbox (S: SDH5 Showtime, D: DCHH5 Ms Strongbox).

One of the largest classes of swine, with 16 head, came out of the February gilt class in the Duroc breed.

The gilt, according to Bressner, is an "excellent female" that can "go anywhere," he said. "Our representative can go to national competition and do well."

Bressner chose the second place gilt in the March class, exhibited by Clyde McConaughey of Mahoning Creek Farms, Smicksburg, as reserve. That gilt was CWM7 MS Tool Box 182054001 (S: CWM6 HP Power Play 6-9, D: CWM5 MS Tool Box 21-6).

Chester White champion was exhibited by Ken Wetzel.

Hampshires

The gilt with the "most extension in the body and length of body," a January gilt, was selected champion Hampshire.

The champion was exhibited by Jeff Bomgardner of Blue Mt. View Farms, Annville, BMV7 Martha (S: JSE5 Extension 73-5, D: JRF5 Martha 15-10).

Bressner, who was trying to decide between the February gilt, the second January gilt, and the second February gilt finally chose the second January gilt for reserve. He called it the "biggest-framed, leanest gilt of the three." The reserve, shown by Dan Wetzel, Rossiter, was DRW7 Edith #384951012 (S: DRW6 Rowdy 9-1, D: DRW5 Jolly 1-4).

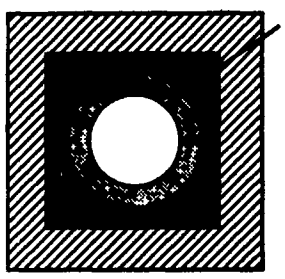
... For New Construction Why Not Examine The "Chimtek Difference."



Chimtek Inner Liners are madeof volcanic pumice and high-tempertature refractory cements, Its round shape provides even temperature inside flue and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gasses. The volcanic pumice in Chimteck liners adds considerable insulating value.

All three chimneyliner systems disbritubed by DS Machine Shop are of super design, super performance, and super value. With all their advantages these chimney systems often cost no more than ordinary chimneys. Write or call us for more specific liner information.

Landrace

Bressner appreciated the excellent leanness, extension of lower body, muscling, and overall volume of the Landrace female, a January gilt, LAG7 MS Data Aris (S: CR4 Data, D: LAG5 Aris Nancy D). The gilt was shown by Grant A. Lazarus III, Germansville.

Bressner picked the second place gilt also shown by Lazarus, LAG7 MS Aris Omar (S: VBF3 Aris, D: LAG4 MS Omar Dunn), for reserve.

Poland China

The "very structurally correct gilt, one that is free and easy in movement" captured the attention of Bressner for the champion Poland China class.

The March gilt, CAB7 Double (S: CAB6 Whinney, D: CAB6 MS Whinney) exhibited by Cheryl Bennecoff, Kutztown, was a "very feminine, very lean gilt," said Bressner.

Bressner selected the January gilt also shown by Bennecoff, CAB7 Bal-Bo (S: TF5 FBoDilla, D: CAB4 Bal Crue) as reserve, saying it makes an "excellent representative of the Poland China breed."

Spotted

The March gilt in the Spotted class was a "very excellent gilt," according to Bressner.

He enjoyed the gilt's femininity, muscle volume, and freedom of movement, he said.

Yorkshire

The gilts that made it to the final, largest class of the day were "structurally correct, long-footed, lean hogs," he said. Bressner selected the January gilt exhibited by Rattlesnake Mt. Farm, Julian. He picked also the reserve champion shown by Rattlesnake Mt. Farm

Farm Show is more fun when you're with friends according to cousins Crystal Zimmerman, 15; Nichole Zimmerman, 15, and Melody Zimmerman, 16, from Lancaster County.

Pennsylvania Fair Queen April Bryington of McKeen County is amazed at all the energy and details put into organizing the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Why do two favorite things happen on one day? Elisa Ranck from Paradise needed to participate in her school's county chorus. After that, she rushed to the Farm Show to participate in the Fashion Show but arrived minutes too late to participate.

During Farm Show festivities, 12-year-old Margeaux Firestine, left, was crowned Polled Hereford queen. Her sister Morgan, 11, was named princess. The two sisters submitted essays previous to the show. The girls are the daughters of Mike and Martene Firestine and raise Polled Herefords in Lebanon County.

The shop has a ten cent sale the second Friday of every month. The shop has lots of wool skirts and other wool garments. She noticed that Mansfield is far from Lebanon and offers to buy the articles and send them if Mrs. Mast would like. Contact Edna at 2862 Harvest Rd., Elizabethtown, PA 17022-9676.

Also, thanks to M.E. Ziegler, 391 Cliffwood Ave., Cliffwood, N.J. 07721, who writes that she is a weaver and buys woolen material for braided rugs. She has a few boxes of wool fabric in Columbia Cross Roads, Pa. Contact her if interested.

ANSWER — Ruth Stump, Copper Hill, Va., thanks readers for answering her request for "Crafting Traditions." We often receive notes like these but don't always include the thank you in our column. However, it is appreciated when you reply if you receive personal replies and no longer need the column's help.

ANSWER — In answer to N. Kring of Cairnbrook, who wanted Dutch boy patterns, Holly Cowie, Romney, W.V., writes that she has several patterns from her grandmother that she will mail if you send her a finished picture of the quilt someday. Write to Holly at 148 W. Gravelin, Romney, WV 26757.

Scooper Bowl Raises $1,970 For Four Diamonds Fund

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

The annual Pennsylvania Farm Show Scooper Bowl Sunday contest held Jan. 11 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg raised $1,970 to help support the Four Diamonds Fund — a 24-year-old fund dedicated to help families of youth with cancer pay medical costs not covered by insurance.

The fund, administered through the Penn State University/ Geisinger Hershey Medical Center, was started in 1972 by Charles and Irma Millard, whose son wrote a heroic fairy tale called the Four Diamonds shortly before his death from cancer at age 14. The story was published and sold, and funds raised used to sponsor the fund to help families of youth battling cancer. The Millards set up and provided the initial funds to create the program.

For the past five years, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program/American Dairy Association organization, in cooperation with the Four Diamonds Fund and several dairies, sponsors the fund-raising contest at the Farm Show.

Though the contest has changed somewhat over the years, it now consists of a blind-folded, speed-eating contest, in which area media celebrities, or relatives of children helped through the Four Diamonds Fund, are matched up with children who have received help through the Fund.

The celebrities have to eat the ice cream, while the children serve it to them.

The winning team this year was John Paul Shaffer of WINK radio, and Nicholas Akright, 13, son of Cara and Bud Akright of the Elizabethtown area, who has been off of chemotherapy treatments for luckemia for three years, but received support from the Four Diamonds fund for paying for that chemotherapy and other patient needs.

Nicholas, who fed a vanilla flavored ice cream cone to Shaffer, said his winning technique was basic. "I just shoved it really hard."

Shaffer agreed.

Shaffer said it was not his first time participating, but his first major win. The first year he tried, he was in last place. Last year he finished in fourth place.

There were eight teams participating in the contest.

Others from the media included Pat Principe with WGAL television Channel 8, teamed with Christopher Smith; Melanie Apple with WHP 580 AM radio, teamed with Stephanie Moore; and Tom Werme with cable television Fox 43, teamed with Marcus Adams.

Others who participated included fathers of 4-Diamonds Fund children Bud Akright, Craig Dewalt, Rich Cline, and a grandfather, Jerry Foust.

The other children were Craig Kline, Emily Barno, Craig Dewalt, and Drew Comrey.

In addition, a number of Hershey Medical Center medical students and family members of youth participated.

The Scooper Bowl Sunday isn't just about a fun ice-cream eating contest — for $3, Farm Show visitors can participate by eating all of the donated ice cream or frozen yogurt they care to consume.

According to Holly Gerke, with the PDPP/American Dairy Association program, all 117 gallons of ice cream was consumed.

Sponsoring dairies included Turkey Hill Dairy, Galliker's Dairy, and Hershey Creamery.

Gerke said that, in addition to the vanilla and chocolate flavors, the dairies provided their top of the line premium exotic flavored ice creams, feeding between 1,000 and 1,100 people.

For those who missed the opportunity to contribute through the Scooper Bowl, Penn State annually holds a spring dance marathon contest at University Park to raise funds for Four Diamonds. Also, direct contributions are accepted.

For more information, call Kirsten Werme, coordinator of the Four Diamonds Funds at Hershey at (717) 531-6086.

State Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr. is surrounded by youth who join him in eating ice cream at the Farm Show Scooper Bowl in support of the Four Diamonds Fund, a program to help families who have children being treated for cancer at the Hershey Medical Center.

Caught By The Camera At Pennsylvania Farm Show

Tom and Joyce Weaver with Philip, 3, and Curtis, 2, are hobby farmers in Mohnton.

CASE IH NO. 1 Engine Oil Reduces Operating Costs

High-quality Case IH No. 1™ engine oil offers advantages that competitive CG-4 engine oils simply can't match. It progects your engine againts the harmful effects of piston deposits, soot and cold temperature and ensures engines run better longer. Plus, Case engineering recently announced that using Case IH No. 1 engine oil allows the extended drain interval to be increased from 250 hours to 300 hours for MX Series tractors. That's a 20% increase

BROWNSTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Almost a year ago, locally well-known, grain-hauling equipment customizer and dealer Jack Conrad moved his business, EMM Sales and Service, from Lititz to Brownstown.

About the same time, EMM concluded the first in what has now become a series of business deals with the Pena-family of Mexico, who own the grain hauling and milling business, Transportistas Y Molineros, that serves the multi-billion tortilla chip industry in Mexico City.

The move into the Brownstown Industrial Park represented an expansion of EMM Sales and Service, and was hinged upon Conrad's ability to continue to provide a well-designed and manufactured product, as well as his ability to secure additional markets.

Conrad built EMM on his ability to provide production agriculture with solidly built, well-designed grain hauling and handling equipment. His list of clients in Pennsylvania and surrounding states in the poultry, livestock, and feed and mill industries is long and extensive.

When the movie "Witness" was made in Lancaster County, Conrad was on hand because his company handles grain vacuuming equipment that the movie makers needed. The equipment was used to continue to reshoot a scene involving grain corn in a silo.

The vacuum allowed the movie crew to quickly move the grain corn back into position to have it fall down again on the actors.

To do that by shovel, or broom, or some other mechanical means would have been labor-intensive and time consuming.

Vacuuming also can move grain from a flat surface at any level, from the ground up, onto or into any receptical. Augers and other mechanical means of moving grain can't perform in some of those situations.

There's another aspect to moving grain with the vacuum. It reduces grain damage, and thus ensures better quality.

When the state Department of Agriculture Bureau of Market Development was given the go-ahead a little more than three years ago to develop and serve as host to an international trade show at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center, Conrad was there.

The Penas and Conrad met, and began exploratory discussions about equipment and equipment needs.

The Penas were still looking for the type of equipment that Conrad had, and at that first international event, despite a blizzard and being locked in central Pennsylvania for several days, Conrad and the Pena family met and furthered talks that eventually led to the Pena family business last year purchasing a vacuum unit, as an initial purchase.

Since then, Conrad has delivered seven blower-kit assemblies to retrofit some of the Penas's fleet, and on Jan. 8 some of the family was in Brownstown again to finalize taking possession of the first of a two-trailer deal.

The family ordered a customized 43-ton capacity (40 ton use is the United States limit), 36-foot gain hauling trailer.

It is outfitted with eight, 5-ton compartments, a hydraulic bottom auger, air delivery equipment, and air rise suspension. It is valued at about $50,000.

The trailer was to have left this week to be driven to Loredo, Texas, a border town southwest of San Antonio.

The Pena family will take possession after the equipment clears customs inspections and is to pass across the Rio Grange River into Nuevo Loredo in Mexico.

From there is will head toward Mexico City, where the Penas's company is the largest hauler of grain corn for tortilla chips.

On Jan. 8, state Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr. made a special visit to the EMM plant to congratulate both businesses on their venture.

"Working together is a winning combination for both EMM Sales and the Pena family," Hayes said.

"EMM Sales has 21st century agricultural equipment, and the Pena family has an outstanding ranch in Mexico which I was privileged to visit in the fall.

"The Pena family indicated to me at that time they were interest in EMM equipment. This transaction is proof of their confidence in Pennsylvania agribusiness."

Conrad develped the concept of mounting blowers and tanks onto trucks for handling grains and feeds 27 years ago and continued to pursue innovation to help provide tools that that industry can use to improve their business.

For the Pena family, the use of the bulk feed tank will allow the business to eliminate the labor-intensive bagging of tortilla cornmeal, which it has had to do until purchasing the equipment through Conrad.

From the left, Jack Conrad, owner of EMM Sales and Service in Brownstown, stands with Francisco Pena Jimenez of Transportistas Y Molineros, Unidos, S.A., state Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr., and Roidrigo Pena and L Marco Antonio Pena. Behind them is an eight-bin, 36-foot long, 40-ton grain hauling trailer equipped with air and hydrolic power sources for moving grain. It is the first of two ordered by the Pena family for use in its operations in Mexico.

The Pena family also has become involved in being a dealer of the equipment in Mexico and south.

Also present at EMM Sales and Service was Walt Peechatka, representing PennAg Industries, an umbrella professional group representing agribusiness in Pennsylvania.

The history of the Tansportistas Y Molineros company is that it began as a sideline to the Pena family corn growing business. They and their neighbors needs transportation services to take their commodities to market.

Over the years, the hauling business outgrew the home farm and expanded into milling, though the Penas still raise corn on the family ranch.

When Lancaster Farming reported the completion of the first deal, Conrad strongly noted the importance of the exporting efforts by the state, and said he was pleased with the emphasis on expanding the state's agricultural export business by Gov. Tom Ridge.

Conrad said at the time that, to him, the international exporting effort represented the first time that he could say that government had done anything specifically to benefit him and the business community, other than to collect taxes or provide general services.

This year, the international trade show was billed as the, "International Celebration 1998," and it was held Friday prior to the opening of the Pennsylvania Farm Show, at the Harrisburg Hilton and Towers, in-town Harrisburg.

It was decided to site the international event and the Farm Show dinner closer to the Pennsylvania Farm Show, so that international guests could easily attend the Farm Show with its more than 500 commercial exhibitors.

The Hilton provided a great amount of support for the event, according to Leo Dunn, with the PDA Burea of Market Development.

At the trade show in the Hilton's Ballroom, there were 63 exhibitor booths representing Pennsylvania businesses and services.

Secretary Hayes greeted visitors to the trade show and officially opened it during a morning ceremony.

Later this week, Dunn said the official tally showed that there were 117 international guests attending, representing 19 nations. That was out of the 265 visitors from 32 nations who had indicated they would attend.

Some reportedly had some difficulty securing travel visas from their home government.

Dunn said that with Gov.

International Trade Allows More Opportunity For Pennsylvania

Ridge's support and with the additional support and time being provided by Secretary Hayes, the trade show is maturing well.

It should be noted that after the first year, there were those (on the political sidelines of the effort to initiate the trade show) who privately expressed opposition to the effort.

While most of that opinion has quieted in the convening years, it appears that those who have been fully supportive of being aggressive in promoting Pennsylvania's agricultural wares globally have been vindicated.

"We went from last year from only having 56 percent buyers with 44 percent digba, to this year having 90 buyers and only 10 percent dignitaries," Dunn said this week.

Dunn said that he received numerous compliments from the commercial exhibitors on the fact that they were meeting so many buyers.

Further, a record attendance was set for the Farm Show dinner, held in the Hilton Ballroom the evening following the trade show, counting international guests. There were about 1,000 in attendance.

State Gov. Tom Ridge greeted the guests, expressing his support for trade relationships.

Separately, Dunn also noted that international trade efforts by the PDA are not limited to the once-per-year Farm Show event.

He said, and Lancaster Farming has reported, that Secretary Hayes has made great efforts to promote Pennsylvania and work to eliminate barriers to trade.

According to Dunn, in addition to the Pena family/Conrad family business relationship, that Hayes has been involved with some other trade efforts.

The Schievenini family from the state of Hidalgo, a region in which Pennsylvania has already developed trading ties, expressed interest in possibly purchasing a large number of dairy cattle from Pennsylvania.

Secretary Hayes in fact was to have flown down to Mexico immediately after the Farm Show to further discussions.

"We know of at least $3 million in actual sales (attributable to the Farm Show International Celebration), but are aware of a lot of other sales for which we do not have figures," Dunn said.

Several commercial exhibitors expressed the sentiment that, whether or not they had yet found a significant exporting market for their products through the trade show, they would never have a chance of securing an international market if they didn't participate in such international trade expositions.

Dunn said he has already received requests from Pennsylvania agribusinesses to participate in next year's trade show.

Those companies or individuals who are interested in participating in the next celebration, should call Leo Dunn (717) 783-8462/ fax (717) 787-1858.

Told To Determine 'Destiny' Of Next Century, FFA'ers Receive Keystones

ANDY ANDREWS

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's lieutenant governor told 2,000 FFA members, family and friends his prediction for the future:

"In your lifetime, ag will flourish among the stars, and some of you in FFA will lead the way."

"It's like Captain Kirk (of TV's "Star Trek") and Farmer Gray joining hands and beaming into the future," he said.

Schweiker spoke about this "exciting time" in the lives of FFA members from across the state and how technology will work to help "do our jobs better."

As for the Farm Show, it holds vital importance for those who are helping, as the FFA'ers are, "build the future."

"Many relationships forged here will stretch across agriculture and across the world," he said. "Your work will soon touch every aspect of modern life and make the world a better and more abundant place to live."

Dr. Eugene Hickock, Pennsylvania secretary of education, spoke about the state's commitment to FFA and to providing "the best possible education we possibly can to everyone."

State Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes brought greetings from Gov. Tom Ridge to the FFA members and family gathered for the Keystone Degree ceremonies in the large arena of the Farm Show Complex.

He reaffirmed the state government's commitment to the largest ag youth organization on the world.

As a former FFA member who also "wore the blue and gold jacket," he told the members, "As long as I am secretary, the FFA is always welcome at the Pennsylvania Farm Show."

Hayes told members that "you and I are going to close the 20th century and open the 21st century. Those of you wearing the jacket will, in large measure, decide the destiny of the 21st century."

State stars were awarded at the convention. State Star in specialized agriculture is Jeremy C. Walters from Brothersvalley FFA. State Star in horticulture went to Dana Lynn Cirino of the W.B. Saul FFA. State Star in ag sales, service, and mechanics is David Warihay from the Manor FFA. State star in production is Paul Kitzmiller from the Gifford Pinchot FFA.

Jeremy Walters, 18, is the son of Harold and Patricia Walters of Berlin and the president of Brothersvalley FFA. He has won awards for ag entrepreneurship, the state award for public speaking, and plans to become a heavy equipment and farm machinery mechanic.

Dana Cirino is a four-year W.B. Saul FFA member. Dana, 17, is the daughter of Thomas and Barbara Cirino, Philadelphia. Dana, who has served on the landscape/ nursery team, has interned at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square. In addition, she received a first place as a member of the Pennsylvania CDE Landscape/ Nursery Team and eighth place nationally.

David Warihay, member of the Manor FFA, plans to work in the family business after high school. David, 17, son of Bob and Barb Warihay of Conestoga, was named a Star Red Rose winner.

Paul Kitzmiller, 17, is the son of Thelma Kitzmiller, Wellsville. Paul is chapter president and plans to attend the Delaware Valley College, the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, and start a large-animal veterinary clinic. He has completed a wide array of projects in sheep breeding and finishing, beef finishing, and swine finishing.

State Star Farmer was chosen from the four star winners to represent Pennsylvania. State Star Farmer is Paul Kitzmiller. This member was chosen because of his outstanding achievement in a production agriculture supervised

Unveiling Of Butter Sculpture Offers Ag Education Opportunity

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — At a media event to unveil the butter sculpture, Pennsylvania Ag Secretary Sam Hayes Jr., hosted a large group of school children from three districts in the Harrisburg area. Because the sculputre depicts a school cafeteria employee serving a student a balanced meal of food products produced in Pennsylvania and the Ag Department's committment to food safety, Hayes was able to do some ag education at the elementary level.

Posing questions about how much and why you cook hamburgers, Hayes was able to provide a TV forum for the impromptu answers from the young audience and reinforce or refute the ideas as needed. In the process, the young people and the TV audiences learned that "we cook food to keep it safe" and "farmers provide us safe food, but we must keep it safe after we get it in our homes."

In an even more dramatic visual demonstration, the children had the opportunity to test the level of germs on their hands before and after washing by placing their hands in a solution.

According to Hayes, he United States Department of Agriculture purchased 60 million pounds of food from Pennsylvania for the national school lunch program. Some of the most popular menu items, like cheese, fruit and vegetables, chicken and hamburgers are grown and processed in Pennsylvania. Nearly one million school breakfasts and lunches are served throughout Pennsylvania schools every day.

Hayes also commended the Pennsylvania dairy industry and all other commodity groups for their active support of Pennsylvania's food safety programs.

Ed Shank, Middletown, crafted the butter sculpture, first introduced as an exhibit at the Farm Show in 1990. Land O' Lakes donated 800 pounds of butter for the creation of the sculpture.

With the health and safety of more than 2.1 million Pennsylvania school children in mind, Gov. Tom Ridge asked PDA in July to assume the responsibility of inspecting school cafeterias. Working with local and county boards of health, the department is now responsible for about 3,000 school buildings that do not have a local municipality inspecting the cafeterias.

For the first time in Pennsylvania's agricultural history, food safety, from the farm to cafeteria tray, is monitored by one state agency. With more than one million school breakfast and lunch meals served each day, everyone involved in producing, processing, and serving those meals plays an important role in safeguarding our children.

However, Hayes said he wanted to do more than just inspect school cafeterias. So the program message became "Good Learners Need Good Food." He recognized the opportunity to link Pennsylvania agriculture, school meals, nutrition, and learning in one comprehensive program.

In October, Gov. Ridge proclaimed Pennsylvania School Food Safety Month, and Sec. Hayes visited schools throughout the state to help serve lunches. Commodity promotion groups were invited to participate in talks about the importance of food safety, school nutrition, and Pennsylvania agriculture as the lunches were served.

The butter sculpture unveiling press conference was just another way to continue PDA's food safety and promotion program. Harrisburg Area Community College chefs served made-to-order omelets and potatoes. The Harrisburg High School Pep Band provided the breakfast music. Holly Gerke from the American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid-East, and Ann Anderson, president, Pennsylvania School Food Service Association, spoke along with Sec. Hayes.

After the press conference, the school children had a tour of the Farm Show building so as to see some of the first cows and other exhibits that were just beginning to get in place.

State Dairy Princess, Nichole Meabon hosts Harrisburg school students Vicky Dink, age 8, and William McCarthy, age 9, with the butter sculpture that depicts a cafeteria employee serving a student a balanced meal of Pennsylvania food products.

agriculture experience (SAE) project and active participation in the FFA. Each year, state associations select one member from the top applicants for the state FFA degree.

Star Star in Agribusiness went to David Warihay from Manor FFA. The top applicant for the state FFA degree in agribusiness in each association is recognized as the state Star In Agribusiness. This recognizes achievement in agribusiness and active involvement in the FFA.

Several other awards were presented at the convention. The Blue and Gold Award, given to individuals each year who have donated years of service to help the Pennsylvania FFA, went to Carl and Margaret Wenger for 50 years of service. The Ten Plus Chapter Awards went to the following FFA chapters: Beaver County AVTS, Cloister, Line Mountain, Spud Growers, Somerset AVTS, Conococheague CE, Albion, Solanco, Central Columbia, Elizabethtown, and Tri-Valley.

The Agri-Science Award was presented to Jennifer Alhouse, Conrad Weiser FFA. The Agri-Science Fair awards were presented to Kendra Weaver, zoology; Joanne Zimmerman, ag engineering; and Steven Wright, botany.

The Pennsylvania Department of Ag Safety Award was presented to Berlin Brothersvalley FFA and Spud Growers FFA.

The 1997 National Chapter Award went to the following: Gold awards to West Snyder, Lenape AVTS, Grassland, Spud Growers, Berlin Brothersvalley, Twin Valley, Cedar Crest, Hans Herr, and Greenwood. Superior chapter honors went to Big Spring, Central Columbia, Cumberland Valley, Mifflinburg Area, Redbank Valley, Somerset AVTS, Tulpehocken Area, Tyrone Area, and West Perry.

Honorary Keystone Degrees, outstanding parents who have devoted their time to helping three or more of their children in achieving the Keystone Degree, were presented to Ricki and Roberta Bashore, Lebanon, Northern Lebanon FFA; David and Marilyn Gross, Hamburg, Tulpehocken Chapter; David and Joyce Zimmerman, Reinholds, Cloister Chapter; James and Ruby Baney, Mt. Vegetable Conference Bigger Than Ever

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — More than 700 people, mostly vegetable growers from throughout Pennsylvania, are expected to gather here at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center for the 1998 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference and Trade Show, Jan. 27-29.

The program will feature three concurrent sessions on all three days, including sessions on high tunnels, greenhouse vegetables, direct marketing, sweet corn, farm management, weed control, cut and dried flowers and herbs, plus an evening session on sustainable agriculture.

Sessions on processing vegetables, general vegetables, bedding plants, brambles, and general marketing will also be offered. A special session introduced last year on the "Basics of Vegetable Production," designed for new growers, will be held again this year. Pesticide applicator update training credits are available to growers attending the sessions.

The conference, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, is scheduled concurrently with the 139th Annual Meeting of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, the state fruit growers association. The state horticultural societies of Maryland and New Jersey also meet in conjunction with their fellow fruit growers from Pennsylvania. In addition, the conference will include members of the North American Bramble Growers Association from across the nation. In all, more than 1,600 are expected to attend the three-day meetings.

The morning marketing session on Jan. 27 will focus on direct marketing topics. Ransom Blakely, a noted marketing consultant, will discuss produce displays and signs for direct marketers. A panel of successful direct marketers — Steve Linvill, Joseph Strite, and Richard Soergel — will discuss their operations.

At the afternoon marketing session, chain store representatives along with Jeffrey Patton, coordinator for the Pennsylvania Pilot Produce project, will discuss selling local produce to supermarkets. Elizabeth Privonka, president of the national 5-A-Day program, will present her organizations's efforts in promoting produce.

Also on the morning of Jan. 27 there will be a session on greenhouse vegetables featuring talks on using beneficial insects to control insect pests, hydroponics, cucumber and lettuce production, and managing small greenhouse tomato operations in Ontario and Pennsylvania. Also featured the first day will be sessions on high tunnels with noted expert on the topic, Dr. Otho Wells from the University of New Hampshire, and on processing and general vegetables.

The "Basics of Vegetable Production" session on Jan. 28 will include talks on fumigation, trickle irrigation and fertigation, minimizing tillage, disease management, and specialized vegetable equipment

Some featured topics on the bedding plant program that day include forcing bulb crops, quality of biological controls, greenhouse design, perennial and annual varieties, and lighting fixtures. The afternoon session on sweet corn will cover varieties, Bt transgenic corn, rust control and deer, racoon and bird damage control. A special session on sustainable vegetable growing will be held that evening.

An afternoon session on Jan. 28 and all-day sessions on Jan. 29 will cover various aspects of bramble culture. General weed control in vegetables will be the topic for both a morning and an afternoon session on Jan. 29. Cultural, chemical, mechanical, and organic methods of weed control will be covered along with weed identification.

Cut and dried flower production and marketing along with herb production will be discussed in a morning session on Jan. 29 while farm management topics such as family business transfers, managing teenage labor, dealing with problem customers, and computer use will be covered in the afternoon.

The processing tomato growers with the highest yields for the 1997 season will be honored at the annual Tomato Awards Luncheon on the opening day, Jan. 27. That evening, the annual Fruit and Vegetable Growers Banquet will be followed by recognitions and musical entertainment by the "New Horizons" of the Milton Hershey School.

The members of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association will receive various reports, act on policy resolutions, and elect six members of the board of directors at their annual business meeting on Jan. 28.

Registration is required for all persons attending the conference and trade show. The proceedings of the conference will be available to persons not attending the conference at a cost of $10.

For more information on the program and registration or obtaining the proceedings, contact William Troxell, Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, RR 1 Box 947, Richfield, PA 17086-9626, (717) 694-3596.

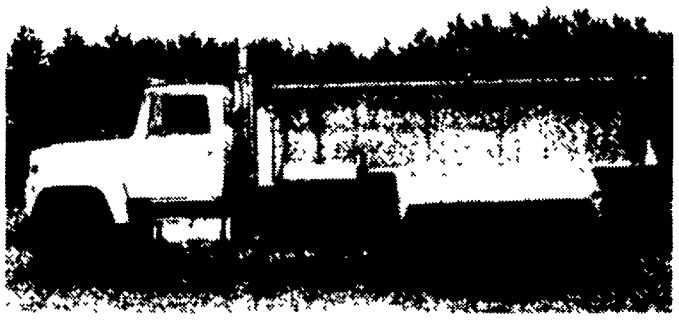
BINKLEY & HURST BROS. INC. OFFERS PROVEN COMMERCIAL BUILT HIGH QUALITY KNIGHT SPREADERS

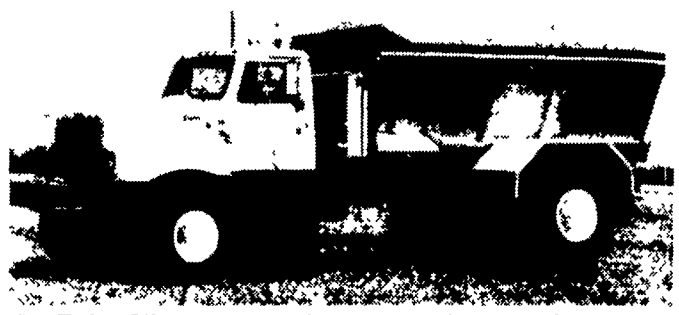
No Matter If You Are A Commercial Sludge Applicator or Farmer, We Have a SPREADER FOR YOU!

We sell pull type or truck mount models, we offer a full line of services for mounting and installation with a full line of truck componentry such as wet lines, PTO's, pumps, etc. We also handle used trucks and have capabilities to lengthen truck frames with reinforcement to setup a complete Knight spreading rig ready to work.



Truck Mounted ProTwin 8018 - 8024 - 8030

ProTwins may be truck mounted for over-the road transport to the field. The standard truck mount spreader features an enclosed gear drive with automotive driveline for smooth, quiet operation.



ProTwin Slingers may be mounted on various high flotation truck chassis to reduce ground compaction while providing mobility to and from the field.

A hydrostatic drive option is available to allow on-the-fly starting and complete speed control of the Slinger. A thermostatically controlled oil cooler maintains proper oil temperature during heavy use.

The 12 volt electric/hydraulic pump and valves operate the door and optional hydraulic lid (above, center).

A simple, easy-to-reach control panel with hydraulic pressure gauge provides complete spreader control on hydrostatically driven Slingers.

Knight offers an optional lid for cleaner transport of slurry-type material. The lid can be attached in a fixed position, or mounted in a hydraulically hinged manner to allow a wide range of material to be loaded.

Custom paint is available to match truck or fleet colors.

Cut-away view showing Patented Material Flow

The 8000 Series ProTwin Slingers can handle a wider range of materials than any other spreader!

The patented twin auger design allows material to circulate inside the unit. This unique action helps keep the load level during normal operation as well as during start-up, fine spreading, and closed-door turns.

As a result of the twin auger system and the steep angle sides, material bridging and excess forward movement of material are virtually eliminated, even in pen packed and sticky feed lot material.

Examine the material flow in the illustration and note that the left auger moves material forward to the discharge hammers. The slightly raised right auger moves the material rearward while keeping the left auger evenly charged with material. It is this patented circulating action that makes the ProTwin so effective in handling the toughest material encountered in most applications.

Twin Auger Design History

The first ProTwin model, the Industrial 8030 unit, was introduced in the summer of 1993. The total acceptance of the ProTwin Slinger by agricultural and industrial operators in handling the toughest waste material has been tremendous.

Originally, the 8030 ProTwin was targeted for industrial use. Today, the same design has been adapted to smaller models to meet the material handling needs of most applications. All of these models handle a wide range of materials; from tough pen pack and sticky feed lot material to slurry types of manure, as well as difficult industrial materials.

Simple Massive Reduction Drive

Each of the ProTwin models is designed for maximum, high torque output. The fully sealed front oil bath enclosure helps assure that chains and sprockets remain clean and well lubricated.* The auger and expeller shafts are sealed to help eliminate oil contamination. Polyethylene-type spring loaded chain tighteners are used on all driveline chains for positive alignment and long life. Bearings can easily be greased through the external grease banks without removing the front drive shield.* Splined shafts have been used in all high-torque areas to provide added strength and reliability.

Constant Velocity PTO with Overload Clutch

Both 540 and 1000 RPM drivelines incorporate a constant velocity joint to provide a smooth transfer of power from the tractor to the unit.* This relieves uneven stress on the drive-train during normal turns and during operation over uneven terrain. The overload clutch provides protection for the expeller shaft and initial drive components. (There is no shear pin in the expeller drive).

Hammer Discharge

Patented Free-Swinging Hammer Expeller

Is the key to grinding and chopping most any material but concrete blocks with a control spread pattern heavy or light for top dressing.

Forged-steel, free-swinging hammers feature a nylon bushing and replaceable manganese steel wear plate for long life and low-cost replacement. Optional hard facing is available for industrial applications spreading highly abrasive materials.

The expeller on ProTwin models features 15 forged-steel hammers mounted on a 2-1/2" shaft.* The hammers pivot on 5/8" bolts with nylon anti-seize type bushings that allow free movement. The expeller rotates at over 800 RPM allowing each eight pound hammer to swing down into the material, peeling it off and slinging it underhand in a fine spread pattern with virtually no clumps. The 3" wide, free-swinging hammers absorb shock and tolerate most foreign objects. Each hammer is faced with a work-hardening manganese steel wear plate for longer life and low cost replacement. The adjustable shroud allows easy hammer clearance setting for optimum spread pattern width. This proven hammer expeller design enables fine spreading control and material calibration through the combination of the hydraulic door opening and ground speed.

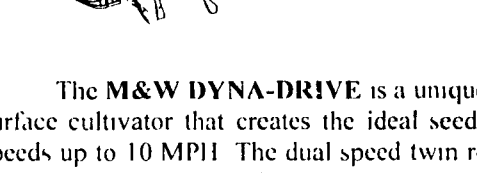
M&W DYNA-DRIVE



- Fast
- Versatile
- Economical
- Durable
- Innovative

The M&W DYNA-DRIVE is a unique ground-driven, rotary, surface cultivator that creates the ideal seedbed in a single pass at speeds up to 10 MPH. The dual speed twin rotor system shatters the soil without smearing, slabbing, or crusting while it maintains residue levels high enough to meet soil conservation compliance requirements. Available in working widths ranging from 6' 8" to 16' 1", the DYNA-DRIVE can cover up to 16 acres per hour, saving time money and effort.

Conservation Tillage	Dual Wheels
Rotary Cutters	Disc Mowers
Balers	Grain Carts

Get precise application control

New Holland side-delivery spreaders provide the most material control. Whether you're light top dressing, laying down a heavy layer, or anything in between, the Model 3110 puts the right amount of material right where you need it.

- Handles a wide variety of material – slurry, gutter material, cow manure, even poultry litter
- V-tank design delivers material to the auger fast
- Heavy -duty round-core auger produces less drag
- Double-acting hydraulic cylinder moves auger up and down to keep material flowing
- Hydraulic gate and specially designed expeller give precise application control
- Backed by a 10-year warranty against tank rust-through

NEW HOLLAND

See us for all your spreader needs.

Super Boom™ is best

When you're looking for a skid-steer, there's the challengers and then there's the champ. Well say hello to the undisputed champ in the all-new Model LX885 New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader.

It has a 60-horsepower, turbocharged diesel engine for the ultimate in power. Its massive 2,200-lb. operating load picks up where all others leave off. Of course, it has the features you expect from New Holland, such as the best speed, stability, visibility, lift height and dump reach in the industry. Add that to the Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system and there's nothing it can't handle.

Stop by today and see for yourself why no other skid-steer can compare.

NEW HOLLAND

Why choose a New Holland skid-steer loader?

- Superior visibility
- Unbeatable stability
- Faster speeds
- Superior dump height & reach
- Greater bucket & lift capacity
- The most attachments
- Unmated dependability

BUSH HOG

Three Backhoe Models to Match Your Tractor

AND DIGGING REQUIREMENTS.

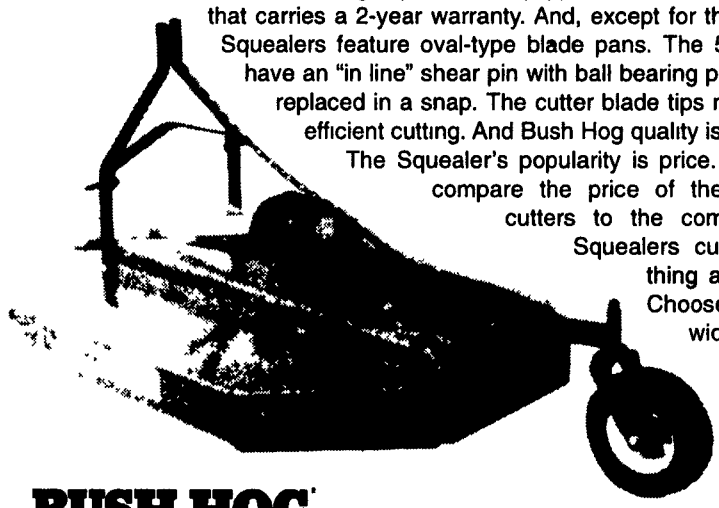
The Bush Hog line of rugged backhoes gives you a choice of models with digging depths from 8 to 10-1/2-feet. Operation is made easy, with all operating functions controlled by two handy levers from the adjustable, cushioned operator's seat. Models are available for 20 to 100 HP tractors with a wide selection of bucket sizes to match your requirements. If you have digging chores to be done come in today and let us show you a Bush Hog backhoe.

BUSH HOG

WHY BUSH HOG SQUEALERS MOW DOWN THE COMPETITION.

Each Bush Hog Squealer is equipped with Bush Hog's tough gearbox that carries a 2-year warranty. And, except for the 42-inch model, all Squealers feature oval-type blade pans. The 5 and 6-foot models have an "in line" shear pin with ball bearing protection that can be replaced in a snap. The cutter blade tips move faster for more efficient cutting. And Bush Hog quality is built into every unit

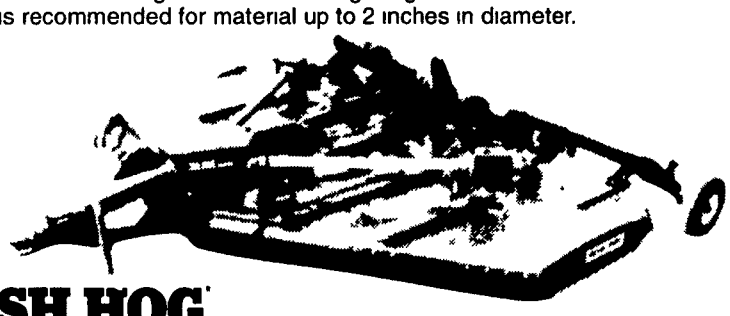
The Squealer's popularity is price. Because when you compare the price of these tough economy cutters to the competition, you'll find Squealers cut another important thing as well... your costs. Choose from five cutting widths.



BUSH HOG

A Legend in the Industry... The Bush Hog 2615L Rotary Cutter

Bush Hog's 2615 Legend Flex-Wing Rotary Cutter is the clear choice for maintaining pastures and rights-of-way on even and uneven terrain. With a big 15-foot cutting width and wings that flex from 90° up to 22° down, this rugged cutter gives you fast, on-the-go control of all mowing functions. Cutting height is from 2 to 14 inches and cutting capacity is recommended for material up to 2 inches in diameter.



BUSH HOG

YOUR BEST CHOICE FOR ALL MEDIUM DUTY CUTTING JOBS.

Bush Hog's 280 Series Rotary Cutters are proven winners for cutting pastures, and all general purpose cutting jobs. These rugged mowers feature a one-piece formed deck construction and a cutting capacity of 2-inch diameter. A round blade holder and slip clutch are standard equipment. Free-swinging, uplift steel blades with high tip speed assure a clean cut, and rugged construction throughout means added durability. The Bush Hog 280 cutters are available in 5, 6 or 7-foot cutting widths.

Agco Launches Touch-Screen GPS

ATLANTA, Ga. – If you can point and touch, you can use Fieldstar.

That's because Fieldstar, the new GPS precision farming system from Agco, features and exclusive touch-screen command center that displays vital yield data and combine performance with just the tap of a finger.

Called the DataTouch command center, it will be available as a part of Fieldstar in Agco brand combines, including all rotary and conventional models of Gleaner and Massey Ferguson, starting in January 1998.

"We believe Fieldstar is the most user-friendly GPS package out there," said Jerry Weaver, general marketing manager, Fieldstar™ at Agco. "Our engineers have created a central control unit that records and displays all key harvest functions involved in GPS-farming just by tapping the screen.

"In field tests this fall, farmers loved the way it worked," he said. "Now they have GPS data right at their fingertips.:

In addition to the touch-screen display, Fieldstar includes a yield sensor mounted in the clean grain elevator, a moisture sensor that continually samples grain flow at the grain bin loading tube, a DGPS receiver and antenna mounted on the cab, and a communications unit installed out of sight to reduce cab clutter.

A dot matrix printer is also available for installation in the cab to provide on-the-go print outs in hard copy format.

The office support package includes two data transfer cards, a data card reader and windows-compatible mapping software. The mapping software is programmed to transfer field data to color yield maps, bar graphs, pie charts, and individual field profit maps. Each data card is about the size of a credit card and holds 30 hours of harvest information for easy downloading to the farm office computer.

Minimum computer requirements for Fieldstar are a 486 DX2, or higher, computer using Windows 3.1 or Windows 95 with 8 meg RAM, or higher, 20 meg of hard drive space and a color monitor VGA. A tape drive backup is also recommended. Agco offers two satellite signal correction options—differential radio beacons and satellite differential. Differential radio beacons, opefated by the U.S. Coast Guard and Army Corps of Engineers, is a free service buy only covers farm land near coastlines and navigable waterways. The satellite differential option covers every acre of North America but has a subscription fee.

"The DataTouch screen displays information in bar graph format" noted Weaver. "It's also very easy to customize the order in which combine functions and crop data are displayed to meet operators' preference.:

Three screens can be accessed with a tap of the finger, Weaver noted. The transport screen indicates ground speed, local time and GPS status. The main menu screen is used to set up daily harvest programs, and covers combine settings, crop settings and system diagnostics. The harvest screen reports yield, yield dry, moisture, crop temperature, elevator speed and also ground speed.

Data can be summarized by trip, field and job categories, including acres per hour and bushels per hour. Yield, moisture, and capacity graphs are also sub-divided into current and average readings.

Yield and moisture sensors constantly relay information to the communications unit which acts as the brain of Fieldstar. It combines harvest data with GPS location signals and passes it to the DataTouch center for in-cab display and logging onto the data card.

A forerunner to Agco's present Fieldstar system has been commercially used in Europe in Massey Ferguson combines since 1992. "This experience, along with extensive field testing in the U.S., has played a major role in the development of a total GPS package that's designed to work together and is easy for producers to use,: Weaver said.

Agco plans to expand portions of Fieldstar to its White planter brand, which introduced the first variable rate seed drive in 1996. This technology permits farmers who operate selected models of White planters to manually adjust seed populations on-the-go from the tractor cab. The DataTouch unit of Fieldstar has been designed to go from combine to tractor for use in future variable rate applications like these.

Vermeer Goes 'Square' Baling

PELLA, Iowa — Vermeer has introduced their first entry into the the "big square" bale market.

The new Vermeer CommandRAM harvests up to 45 tons of hay per hour. It creates an ideal bale size, in dimension and weight, for economical handling and hauling. The solid 38-inch x 46-inch six-tie packages (which can weigh up to 1,600 pounds) enable operators with standard flatbed trucks to transport 33 percent more "big squares" (versus the 4-foot x 4-foot packages). They also provide a more stable foundation for uniform stacking and storage.

CommandRAM features a unique, state-of-the-art hydraulic plunger drive system which compresses the hay in the chamber only "on command" — when the chamber is full. In addition to improving hay distribution during the plunging process and producing more uniform and consistent slices for feeding, the hydraulic drive system sharply reduces annual repair, maintenance and equipment replacement costs by using fewer moving parts, eliminating high-wear plunger chains, sprockets, gears and gearboxes.

The new Vermeer CommandRAM harvests up to 45 tons of hay per hour. It creates an ideal bale size, in dimension and weight, for economical handling and hauling.

"The simpler, hydraulic drive is designed to decrease downtime when the hay's ready and increase production over an entire season," according to Al Van Dyke, sales manager of Vermeer's Ag Division. "The reversible hydraulic drive feed system, operated from the tractor seat, can save hours of hand work unplugging a baler. Hydraulic relief valves eliminate time spent replacing shear bolts. Basic maintenance and service requirements are significantly reduced.

"And daily maintenance and service takes just minutes. A remote control system simplifies service work by diagnosing necessary adjustments for knotters, forks and plunger. Side shi also swing out for easy acce Van Dyke said.

The hydraulic drive is gen on hay than gear-driven units. flows freely from the wind through the feed chute directl to the bale chamber, without use of a precompression cham The hydraulically-driven plunger operates only when chamber is fully charged. As a sult, producers experience predi able, uniform bale flakes — 17 22 per 8-foot bale; gentler hand ling of alfalfa and other fragil legume-type crops; plus, easi feeding (since the bales bre apart more readily and contro ably).

Uniform bale lengths and dens ties are simple to manage in var ing crop conditions, from alfal to haylage.

Hydraulic Drive Allows Decks to 'Float'

MOLINE, Ill. – Featuring 11 feet of cutting width, the John Deere WF1655 wide-area front mower grooms large open areas in half the time of traditional 72-inch mowers to reduce labor costs.

With its three-deck mower setup (one front and two wing mowers), operators can also count on smooth power from the hydraulic drive system. This system allows the decks to float and follow ground contour without belts or shafts restricting movement.

The 51-hp WF1655 is equipped with a clean-burning overhead-valve Yanmar diesel engine for ample power.

Increased flexibility results in higher productivity for commercial grounds care technicians, sports-turf managers and golf course superintendents. The WR1655's mower decks operate independently, allowing operators to raise a wing mower to pass by a tree or mow a tight area. The wing decks also turn off and on automatically when raised and lowered.

The WF1655 delivers strong torque with miserly fuel economy, and provides high visibility with extra trimming ability in an overall well-balanced machine.

When mowing hillsides or slippery areas, extra traction is available by engaging the WF1655's full-time or on-demand four-wheel drive and differential lock. Additional features include folding wing decks for transport, increased side-to-side operator visibility, and a tilting steering column for added comfort and operating ease.

Featuring 11 feet of cutting width, the John Deere WF16 wide-area front mower groom large open areas in half th time of traditional 72-inch mow ers to reduce time and labo costs.

Satellite Link Used To Introduce Weed Control Technology

CHICAGO, Ill. — Two of the latest discoveries in weed control were introduced to American farmers recently by way of another new technology: direct-satellite-link television.

American Cyanamid used the studios of Channel Earth (channel 283 on the DirecTV service) to present via satellite information about Raptor™ herbicide for soybeans and Lightning™ herbicide for IMI-corn® hybrids.

Raptor is the newest member of the imidazolinone family of herbicides. "It offers broad-spectrum contact and residual control of more than 50 broadleaf and grass weeds, plus rotational flexibility that's unmatched by any other postemergence contact and residual herbicide," said Pat Campbell, vice president of marketing at American Cyanamid.

Lightning is the newest herbicide for use on IMI-Corn hybrids, which have been specially bred to tolerate imidazolinone herbicides. "Lightning is an imidazolinone herbicide applied postemergence that provides contact and residual control of most grasses and broadleaves," Campbell said. "That includes foxtails, crabgrass, woolly cupgrass, wild proso millet, v vetleaf, cocklebur and lambsq ters.

"These new products dem strate the American Cyana commitment to bringing grow the best crop protection soluti modern technology has to off Campbell said.

New Belt Feeders For Lengths Up To 200 Feet

POUND, Wis. – The new Patz Model 1208 Feeder uses a 12-inch belt and deep-trough, open-center pan sections for feeding up to 1,000 pounds per minute. The Model 1608 Feeder uses a 16-inch belt for feeding up to 1,690 pounds per minute.

Economical single-motor drive can feed one or two lots with the bunk split lengthwise. One motor drives both the feed-carrying belt and the continuous-loop, cable-driven plow.

For feeding up to six lots different rations, an instant-reverse motor drives the plow. A control panel uses reed switches to control the plow for flexible layouts of lots.

These feeders can be customized by adding options such as hoppers, convey sides, feed deflector, belt wiper, windboards, and covers.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A joyous Dorothy Metzler began hugging family and friends while the supreme champion banner and Farm Show royalty waited in the wings.

"Are those tears in your eyes?" one reporter asked.

"Yes," she said.

Moments before, Dorothy was honored with the supreme champion bull banner at the open beef show of the state Farm Show.

On Monday, the event marked a special occasion for Dorothy, in a tumultuous past year in which her husband, George, died, while the show livestock on her farm, Salunga Acres, Mount Joy, continued to have tremendous success.

"Do you think George is looking down with pride?"

She nodded as she stood, answering questions from the press, congratulating her farm manager, C.J. Furlong, who led the animal through the show ring, taking champion Polled Hereford and the supreme champion bull.

Furlong said that raising a champion such as the one they showed at Farm Show begins "a long time ago," with breeding — selecting a top-quality dam and excellent sire.

The Polled Hereford, an early junior yearling bull, Salunga Form (S: Barb B 15S Yankee, D: CSSBRN Bshng D1 306R21C), was named supreme this year at York Fair. The 2-year-old recently won champion bull at the Keystone International Livestock Expo, Furlong indicated, and was the reserve champion at the Eastern National Show in Timonium, Md.

The farm will use him to bull breed and sell semen to breed in Canada, he indicated.

Moments before, an early junior yearling heifer, named grand champion Angus heifer, Rains Reba Skylight 2RPT (S: Rito 2RT2 Of OB5 RR Trave, D: Rains Ina Skylight PT TG), shown by Dale A. Rains, Mercer, was named supreme heifer of the open beef show.

Rains said the heifer, who will be two years old in February, is homebred and raised. He attributed success at the Farm show to "a lot of time and effort, especially genetics," Rains said. "We choose cattle that are balanced in traits in terms of production."

The manager makes careful use of expected progeny difference (EPD) information. All traits are important "in combination," Rains said.

Last Sunday, Charolais champion and reserve champion heifer went to Dunkard Valley Farms, Dallastown. Grand champion Charolais bull went to Raymond A. Bratton, McVeytown. Reserve went to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Turk, Warren.

Northeast DHIA Reviews Progress At 10th Annual Meeting

ITHACA, N.Y. — As the region's dairy farmers faced a year of economic challenges, the Northeast Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) re-examined its businesses, focusing on developing more relevant services and lowering costs to farmers.

At the Northeast DHIA annual meeting, held recently in Ithaca, N.Y., Harold W. Bodwell III, President of the Northeast DHIA Board of Directors, chronicled the organization's achievements of the past year, particularly highlighting the creation of Cooperative Dairy One, an information technology venture with Dairylea Cooperative Inc.

Known as Dairy One, the venture began operations in early 1997 with the purpose of developing technologies and services to meet the information demands necessary for progressive dairy management. At the same time, the alliance allows for the elimination of overlapping operations, thereby increasing the economic efficiencies for both organizations, which benefits their respective memberships.

During his remarks, Bodwell noted the significant savings that were realized in the past year through both the creation of Dairy One and the streamlining of Northeast DHIA.

"In serving our membership we will continue to address the changing structure of the dairy industry," said Bodwell. "Our challenge remains the same — how to provide the right herd management information at a competitive cost."

Rick Smith, Chief Executive Officer of Dairy One, addressed the delegate body providing an overview of the current Northeast milk pricing climate, as well as the changes occurring within the dairy industry.

"We do not feel good knowing that many of our members are caught in the cost/price squeeze of today's milk marketing environment," stated Smith. "This has led to a decrease in the number of farms in the Northeast, which affects the entire agriculture infrastructure. We must continue to develop new ventures and partnerships — much like Dairy One — in order to create innovative services that enhance dairy farmers' potential for profitability," Smith added.

Following Smith's report, Dr. Arden Nelson, a veterinarian with Dairy Production Services, moderated a panel that reviewed several of the newer and more innovative services available through Dairy One.

Panel member Scott Flowers, of Harper Farms in Savannah, N.Y., discussed using Dairy Comp 305 herd management software to the track changes in his 200-milking cow operation. "I think Dairy Comp 305 is one of the best tools I have ever purchased. It allows me to quickly access and analyze my information," Flowers said.

The use of Milk Urea Nitrogen (MUN) Analysis, an analysis performed on milk samples to measure the amount of protein cows are using in the ration, was addressed by panelist Rick Holdridge of Humdinger Holsteins in Bloomville, N.Y. "We are constantly asking ourselves if we are profitable," said Holdridge. "MUN analysis gives us a way to check on whether or not we are feeding too much. It costs us $6 for MUN testing and $3,000 a month for grain. So, for only $6, we can keep close track of a major expense."

Paul Sirois, DHI Forage Lab Manager, rounded out the panel by presenting information on the new In-Vitro procedure, which can fine tune the energy predictions of feed. "In-Vitro methods attempt to simulate digestive processes that naturally occur in the animal, in particular, the microbial breakdown of forages in the rumen," reported Sirois.

Currently, the DHI Forage Lab is one of only a few laboratories in the United States to offer In-Vitro analysis as a commercial service.

Jamie Zimmerman, Assistant to the CEO, reviewed the progress made by Dairy One since its inception in early 1997. Zimmerman noted that the sample transportation systems of Dairylea and Northeast DHIA were combined into a single Dairy One sample transportation system in January, resulting in improved service and turnaround for both organizations. In April, Dairy One purchased a calibration unit and began providing a bulk tank calibration service throughout the Northeast region. Additionally, expansion of the milk analysis laboratory occurred in early summer resulting in a state-of-the-art laboratory that performs all milk testing from traditional DHIA sample analysis to producer payment analysis, as well as calibration and control samples and bacteria analysis.

"Dairy One will continue to explore ways in which both Dairylea and Northeast DHIA can work to improve services and profitability to Northeast dairy producers," said Zimmerman.

At an evening banquet, past and present Directors of Northeast DHIA honored former General Manager Nelvin Empet, who recently retired after 20 years of service to the Cooperative.

Northeast DHIA Records Services currently provide service in the nine state region of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine.

Cumberland County Drill Team Entertains At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) – Carousel horses came to life as the members of Cumberland County Mounted Drill Team performed various formations including a carousal and wagon wheel in the large arena at Farm Show.

Farm Show visitors watched as the 22 youngsters, ages 8 to 18, rode impressively. One couple watching commented in amazement as the riders moved their horses through a figure eight. "They're really very good," commented the woman.

Being part of the drill team is about more than just work, says 4-H leader Sandy Long. Team member Levi Smith said, "It's lots of fun." He enjoyed meeting people through the drill team.

Mary Strasbough liked coming to Farm Show and giving people the chance to see a horse and learn more about them. The wagon wheel was Lorie Wagner's favorite part of the drill team because she enjoyed working with others and the wagon wheel can only be done if everyone works together.

Long hopes that the drill team shows people the joy that horses can bring and also helps to promote 4-H youth programs.

The Cumberland County 4-H Mounted Drill Team was first organized in 1954 and there has been one ever since. Sandy and Mainard Long, the current leaders, were both members. The drill team performs at Farm Show and at three summer events.

THE ONLY THING SHAKING IS THE COMPETITION

Kubota's Grand L-Series diesel tractors. Four compact models with 25 to 37 PTO horsepower. Designed to take on any job that demands power and mobility.

Available in 2WD and 4WD, the Grand L-Series features Kubota's ETVCS diesel engines that run quiet with cleaner emissions. Operator friendly with power steering, tilt wheel and enclosed muffler for greater visibility. The roomy flat operator's deck is ISO-mounted to greatly reduce vibration.

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions, the fully synchronized main transmission with Synchro-Shuttle allowing shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears or the GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds, both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter, larger capacity clutch.

The Grand L-Series powerful hydraulic system, independent rear PTO and 3-point hitch hook up to a wide range of quick-attach implements to handle any job.

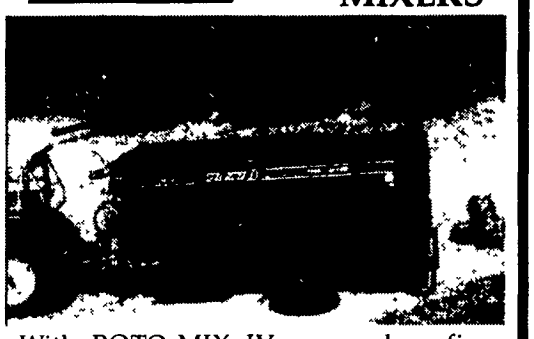
ROTO-MIX IV FEED MIXERS



With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots. The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.

The ROTO-MIX end-to-end... side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

SELL ME THAT GOOD COW THAT YOU CAN'T GET PREGNANT.

If you have one or more good dairy cows that you can't get pregnant; call me. I can use about 100 cows. I will feed an all natural mix; breed them and give you first chance to buy the cow back pregnant. You pick the bull; and seven to eight months pregnant when I sell her at the fair market value. You save money on hauling and shrinkage and I will pay you a little extra for the better cows.

The last time I ran an add for Open Cows Wanted; I got a lot of calls from Dairymen wanting to know what I am doing; then they wouldn't sell me the cow after I told them; so I will just tell you now. I use Formula M on your cow; breed to a top A.I. bull and sell her back to you seven or eight months pregnant. The success ratio is near 100%; but if you know the cow to be cystic; please tell me when you call; because the procedure is different for cystic cows. I will take cystic cows; but it will be helpful if I know they are cystic when I buy them.

I am only interested in the better cows with GP, VG or EXC. Mammary.

I prefer 1st and 2nd calf heifers.
